

Frank Drafting Statement on Dismissal as U. of W. Chief

Expected to Reveal Whether He'll Continue Fight

SITUATION IS QUIET

Students Undecided as to Further Strike Action

Madison —(P)—A University of Wisconsin student uprising over the discharge of President Glenn Frank subsided at least temporarily today as the educator prepared a statement whether he would accept the ouster vote of the board of regents as final.

Leaders of the groups of approximately 1,000 rebelling students called off a planned demonstration at Frank's home last night. The action came after Governor Philip F. LaFollette asked police to eject the students from his office and bluntly rejected their demand for Dr. Frank's re-instatement.

Self-appointed spokesmen for the under-graduate group indicated they would await the president's statement before deciding on their course of action. Frank promised the statement in a brief press conference late yesterday. At that time he said he was not prepared to discuss his plans.

Fought For Principles

Dr. Frank explained he went through the ordeal of the two-day hearing before a hostile majority bloc of regents solely "because certain principles are at stake."

"It was not a question of my position," he added.

"I believe an alert press can recognize a political firing squad when it sees one in action."

Frank would not comment upon circulated reports there might be a court battle over his contract, which does not expire until the end of June. He will receive his pay up to that time, but under the orders of the board of regents, started on a leave of absence yesterday and was shorn of all duties as president.

Dean George Sellery of the college of letters and science became acting president.

Madison police estimated 1,000 students, one-tenth of the university's enrollment, took part in the demonstration at the state capitol. They alternately cheered and jeered the governor as he denied charges made during the hearing that politics dictated Frank's ouster by the LaFollette-controlled board. The governor addressed the students in the assembly chambers after police had forced them out of the executive's office.

Governor's View

"Throughout this matter," the governor said, "I have constantly remembered that it is not the governor's function to decide what he would do if he were a regent. His duty is confined solely to being satisfied that their regents are acting with good cause and not from improper purposes or from bad motives."

The governor declared he was convinced "any unbiased person reviewing carefully the administrative record of Frank, can come to but one conclusion namely, that any conscientious regent would be warranted in concluding that it was not desirable in the best interests of the university to retain Dr. Frank as president."

The students gathered on the campus and marched in a body to the capitol. Previously they had demonstrated for two days at the hearing, cheering the president and booing regents who made charges against him.

WANT FRANK

Syracuse, N. Y.—(P)—The Daily Orange, Syracuse university student newspaper, recommended in an editorial today that Glenn Frank, ousted president of the University of Wisconsin, be considered as a successor to Dr. Charles W. Flint as chancellor at Syracuse.

Dr. Flint resigned last year to become a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church in the Atlanta, Ga., area.

Trotsky Guarded As He Arrives in Mexico on Tanker

Tampico, Mexico —(P)—The tanker Ruth, bringing Leon Trotsky to a haven in Mexico, arrived in the Panuco river, near Tampico, today.

Small detachments of soldiers and police guarded the docks to prevent trouble if a threatened demonstration against the exiled bolshevist leader should be carried out by the Tamauilipas State Labor Federation, an affiliate of the Confederation of Labor of Mexico.

It was reliably reported President Lazaro Gardenas had put an airplane and a private railway car at Trotsky's disposition.

Trotsky, no longer able to find a haven in Europe in his banishment from Russia, sailed from Norway last Dec. 19 on the freighter Ruth.

The time of the ship's arrival was not definite but leaders of the protest said they had posted a lookout and were prepared of the protest and they had post a lookout and were prepared for a demonstration when the ship was sighted.

NEW UNDERSHERIFF

Fred Frank, Seymour, above, a member of the county board, has been appointed undersheriff by Sheriff John Lappen. The appointment was made upon the recommendation of the county Republican committee.

Sheriff Lappen Appoints Seymour Man as Assistant

Selection of Frank as Undersheriff Made on Committee Recommendation

Fred Frank, Seymour, member of the county board, today was appointed undersheriff by Sheriff John Lappen. The selection was made upon the recommendation of the executive committee of the Outagamie County Republican committee, which announced the appointment. He will take office next Monday.

The executive committee's announcement, made by Emmery A. Grunke, chairman, stated:

"On the recommendation of the executive committee of the Outagamie County Republican committee, Sheriff John Lappen today appointed Fred Frank of Seymour as undersheriff."

"A large number of applicants were thoroughly considered for the appointment by the executive committee in an effort to assist the sheriff in obtaining a competent and capable assistant. Other applications for the position received favorable commendation but it was the sentiment of the committee, with John Lappen as sheriff, assisted by an undersheriff with the qualifications of Fred Frank, the citizens of Outagamie County would have law enforcement officers of the highest type."

Mr. Frank, a resident of Outagamie county for 26 years and an ex-service man, now is serving his third 2-year term as county board supervisor from the First ward of Seymour and is a member of the county executive committee. He plans to submit his resignation as a supervisor at the next session of the county board, opening Feb. 15.

At Seymour, Mr. Frank has been operating a gasoline service station.

Elderly Woman Alone 2 Days With Broken Hip

Milwaukee —(P)—Mrs. Clara Tschudi, 79, lay helpless with a broken hip on the floor of her unheated cottage for two days without food or water before she was found late yesterday by a neighbor boy.

Marvin Richter, 13, who called to run errands, found her. She said she slipped and fell near her home and a motorist helped her to the house and put her in a rocking chair.

When she attempted to get up late yesterday, her legs collapsed, she said, and she was able to crawl only a few feet where she lay waiting for help. She was taken to County Emergency hospital where her condition was pronounced critical.

Marchers Demand New Appropriation for WPA

Chicago —(P)—Marching demonstrators appeared at the works progress administration headquarters in the Merchandise Mart where recently they engaged in an eight day "sit down" pressing their demands for a congressional appropriation of $1,250,000,000 to carry on WPA activities.

Police Sergeant Neil Kahler estimated the marchers, carrying placards and banners, at 150.

Signs bore the legends: "Starving is un-American," "less for war, more for jobs," "overalls, not pink slips," "proposed WPA layoffs violate the Nov. 3 mandate."

Herbert Caro, who said he was chairman of the city projects council of WPA employees, said in addition to the appropriation the demonstrators demanded an immediate 10 per cent increase and an eventual 20 per cent increase in WPA wages.

Palm Beach Enacts Law Barring Auto Trailers

Jacksonville, Fla.—(P)—Although Palm Beach had virtually barred its gates today against automobile trailers, the tourist who drags his home behind him found plenty of welcome signs in Florida cities.

Palm Beach, high society's winter mecca, enacted this week an ordinance banning trailer camps as a public nuisance.

The tourist who may rebuff there, however, may drive across Lake Worth to West Palm Beach and find space at two camps within the city limits.

Report Hitler Prods Franco To Speed War

Fuehrer Said to be Asking Capture of Madrid By Jan. 15

SENDS VOLUNTEERS

French Colonial Troops Ordered on Alert in Morocco

Berlin —(P)—Private German sources declared today Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler had told Spanish Insurgent General Francisco Franco to capture Madrid by Jan. 15. They asserted the nazi chancellor has sent between 15,000 and 25,000 volunteers to the fascist commander's aid and spent $180,000,000 to help the insurgents.

Hitler hopes to gain three objectives, these informants said, in return for participating in the "Spanish adventure." They were reported as:

1. Colonies lost after the World war.
 2. Mining concessions in Spain or its possessions.
 3. Economic aid from other European powers.
- Despite official denials of German assistance to the Spanish fascists, the oft-repeated assertion that at least 15,000 men have gone to the civil war occurs with monotonous regularity.

Report 25,000 Sent

The repetition is broken only by those persons, whose information has proved reliable in the past, who set the estimate as high as 25,000.

About 10,000 are soldiers of the reich, these persons asserted the rest, they said, are labor and youth organizers, together with some miners dispatched to work in the manganese ore mines in Morocco and Spain.

Generalissimo Franco, in need of reinforcements to culminate the 11-week siege of the capital with victory, has asked for a minimum of 70,000 men, informed persons stated.

The estimate of German expenditures in the Spanish civil war was made by an informant in a position to know because of his connection with authoritative sources.

The cost, he said, was approximately 450,000,000 marks and was approved only after Nazi leaders felt some certainty they were on the winning side.

799 Die in State Traffic in Year

1936 Record Apparently Better Than That of Previous Year

Madison —(P)—Although not one Wisconsin county came through 1936 without a traffic fatality, the state highway department's safety division expects the state to win a place on the National Safety council's honor roll for the year.

West A. Burdick, safety director, said incomplete reports show that 799 persons died in highway accidents in 1936, compared with 834 in 1935.

Adams, Rusk and Marquette counties reported only one death. Counties reporting two deaths included Florence, Buffalo, Green, Trempealeau, Green Lake and Iron. No fatalities were reported in Adams and Marquette counties in 1936.

The incomplete record, Burdick said, indicates Juneau county probably had the best record for reducing traffic mortality, listing only four in 1936, compared with seventeen in 1935. Other counties tentatively credited with reductions are Brown, Fond du Lac, Outagamie, Rock, Eau Claire, Polk, St. Croix, Vernon, Waupaca, Iowa, Juneau and Oneida.

Burdick said counties showing more fatalities in 1936 than in 1935 included Dodge, Kenosha, Sheboygan, Winnebago, Richland and Burnett.

Most accidents, he added, occurred in the months of January and February.

Report Execution of 52 After Prison Break

Tokio —(P)—The Domei (Japanese) news agency reported today 52 prisoners including many Manchoukuo bandits were shot to death after wrecking a military prison at Tsishihar, Manchoukuo.

Sixty-five others, the dispatch said, were recaptured. Other escaped prisoners, the report said, were believed to have starved or frozen to death.

Landon to Leave Office Monday as Kansas Governor

Topeka, Kans.—(P)—Alf M. Landon, about to step out of office as a two-term governor and return to the oil business, looked back with satisfaction today on having played a major part during one of "the greatest periods of economic stress and emotion in the history of the nation."

The man won the Republican presidential nomination in 1936, prefaced a summation of his administration, which ends at noon next Monday, with the observation:

"It's not so much the kind of laws you have as it is the administration and enforcement of laws that make for better government."

Landon indicated he would resume active direction of his independent oil interest in southern Kansas and perhaps some real estate operations. He would not say whether he will return to Independence, his former home, or continue to reside in Topeka.

Fears 'Hijacking' Of Ransom Money In Kidnaping Case

Ad Indicates Dr. Mattson Fears Imposters Will Get Cash

Tacoma, Wash.—(P)—Dr. W. W. Mattson sought today to prevent "hijacking" of the $24,000 ransom demanded by the kidnaper of his son Charles, 10, held for the thirteenth day.

The physician disclosed fear he might not actually be dealing with his son's kidnaper by inserting an advertisement in the Seattle Daily Times yesterday imploring the abductor to "give me information so that I may guard against imposters and hijackers."

The advertisement was addressed to "Mable," as were four previous notes which have appeared in the newspaper's "personal" column, and was signed "Ann." It said:

"Mable—We are still waiting. All arrangements have been carried out in accordance with instructions in notes received. Be certain to give me information so that I may guard against imposters and hijackers, and be more specific in your instructions—Ann."

Reliable sources interpreted the advertisement to mean the ransom for Charles' release has not been paid, though they speculated before to pay it may have been made.

One theory, supported by several sources, was that Dr. Mattson made an attempt to pay the ransom late Thursday.

The unconfirmed theory served as one possible explanation for the sudden flurry of activity by agents of the federal bureau of investigation here yesterday.

LaFollette Brothers Leave for Washington

Madison —(P)—Governor LaFollette, accompanied by his brother, Senator Robert M. LaFollette, left for Washington today to confer with President Roosevelt on relief and unemployment problems.

Out of the discussions will come the governor's recommendation for meeting these problems within the state when the legislature convenes next Wednesday.

The chief executive previously said he would not attempt to draft his proposed new works bill until he is advised what the federal program will be.

Senator LaFollette will remain in Washington for the congressional session, but the governor plans to be back in Madison Tuesday night. His first message to the legislature is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon provided the houses complete their organization in time. They will meet at noon.

Pray for World Peace, Pope Pius' Message

Vatican City —(P)—Pope Pius, improved but still confined to his bed with a variety of old age ills, sent this message today to the forthcoming Eucharistic congress in Manila:

"Pray for the reestablishment of peace in a world which needs it badly."

The pontiff's statement was delivered to the papal mission, headed by Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, by Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state.

Cardinal Dougherty was also granted with the holy father's gift to the congress—a gold and silver casket.

The mission was received by Cardinal Pacelli in his Vatican offices on behalf of the 79-year-old pope, whose condition was reported "unchanged."

Son Appeals to State Pardon Board For Release of Isaac J. Rosenberg

Madison —(P)—Louis J. Rosenberg appealed today to the state pardon board to recommend a pardon for his aged father, Isaac J. Rosenberg, who is serving a term in Waupun prison for violation of the banking laws.

Rosenberg told the board his father seems destined to be the only banker of all those sent to Waupun who will be required to serve his full term.

He claimed the elder Rosenberg's only offense was to "window dress" the financial status of the defunct Liberty State bank, of which he was president before its collapse.

"Window dressing," the son continued, "was admittedly a common practice and in other cases bankers accused of it were acquitted. My father gave his personal note for

Hopes Courts Will Follow Vote Returns

Roosevelt Awaits Response To Two Messages to Congress

BILLS MAY RESULT

Washington Also Keeps Eyes on Business Reactions

Washington —(P)—President Roosevelt's strategy on entering his second administration, sources in touch with him understood today, will be to give the supreme court and business an opportunity to "follow the election returns" and guide his course by the results.

Unless more liberal interpretations of the constitution are forthcoming and business steps up employment, enlargement of legislative powers may be undertaken and budget balancing will be deferred.

This was the consensus at the capitol and among White House advisors, on the basis of Mr. Roosevelt's two messages to congress this week.

Democratic leaders expected him to follow through in the inaugural address Jan. 20 as part of a program to activate public opinion on the wage and hour and unemployment problems.

The senate and house welcomed a recess today to reflect over the constitutional issue and the budget received yesterday.

Some Seek Amendment

A militant group of Democrats laid plans to press for an amendment to the constitution. Against them stood the administration leadership.

Experts working on labor legislation reported difficulty trying to square their drafts with restrictions on federal power as defined by the NRA, AAA and Guffey coal decisions. Indications were that proposals embodying basic principles of those defunct laws would be given administration sanction before long.

With enactment of these measures, an attempt would be made to get early court rulings, although there likely would be a delay into next fall.

The possibility of a change in the complexion of the court was kept in mind by leading Democrats. The nine justices average 71 years of age. Several of the conservative side have wanted to retire for some time but there was no way of telling which way the administration maneuvering would affect their decisions on that matter.

If the new business regulation and farms bills are thrown out, White House advisors look for one of two things to happen. Either an amendment to broaden federal powers will be projected in accordance with the Democratic platform, or an attempt will be made to give congress a veto power over judicial decisions. Suggestions for enlargement of the court have met little favor.

Former Convict Admits He Murdered Farmer

Knob, Ind.—(P)—State Police Detective William Lemler today arrested Clarence Johnson, 36, a farmer who the officer said admitted killing Morris Seigel, 77-year-old man found clubbed to death late Thursday in a farm home.

Seigel, a former resident of Chicago, was described by assistant State's Attorney Irwin Clorfene of Chicago as a former convict, swindler and professional confidence man who had been sought in connection with an ambulance chaser racket.

The elderly man's battered body was found by an insurance adjuster who had called to discuss two recent fires at the farm home. A blood-smeared board with which Seigel apparently had been beaten on the head lay near the body.

Investigators said they found in the farmhouse more than 200 letters threatening Seigel's life.

Racine Mayor Vetoes Labor Election Plan

Racine —(P)—A plan to conduct a pool of J. I. Case company production workers today on whether they desired to return to work was canceled last night when the city council failed to override a veto by Mayor William Swoboda of a resolution calling for the election.

The Case plants have been closed more than two months by a labor dispute.

The mayor said he vetoed the resolution because the action was outside the council's jurisdiction and the vote would not help in settlement of the controversy.

General Motors Backs A. F. of L. Craft Unions Against Lewis Faction

Won't Sign Contract With U.A.W., Is Pledge

DEADLOCK REMAINS

Action Latest Development in Labor Controversy

Washington —(P)—The General Motors corporation gave support to American Federation of Labor craft unions today in their fight against John L. Lewis.

In a telegram to John P. Frey, president of the A. F. of L. metal trades department, the corporation said it had no intention of signing a contract with the striking United Automobile Workers that would freeze craft unions out of its plants.

The United Automobile Workers are affiliated with the committee for industrial organization headed by Lewis.

Before they received this assurance, he had ordered craft union members at the Fisher Body plant in Cleveland—closed by the strike—to return to work.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, is seeking to bring all automobile workers into one big union. The federation believes skilled craftsmen in the automobile and all other industries should be divided among craft unions.

H. W. Anderson of the General Motors labor relations department in Detroit sent the following telegram to Frey:

"In line with the established policy, you may rest assured that General Motors has no intention of entering into any agreement with any organization interfering with legitimate jurisdiction of international unions affiliated with the metal trades department of American Federation of Labor."

The communications marked the latest development in the battle between the federation's craft unions and Lewis.

The current General Motors strike is part of Lewis' campaign to further this policy regardless of the federation's position.

Anderson's telegram was in reply to a request from Frey that the corporation "enter into no agreement which would give to some other organization authority to represent the skilled craftsmen in the metal working industries."

Frey said "such representation is properly lodged in their respective international unions affiliated with the metal trades department."

Sportsmen Urged To Provide Feed

Sleet Storms Have Covered Natural Feed for Game Under Ice

Madison —(P)—Ralph Conway, state supervisor of refugees and hunting grounds, directed a force of several thousand wardens and sportsmen today in an emergency upland game feeding program.

"The sleet storms of the last few days have locked all natural feed under ice," he said. "I have called upon thousands of cooperators in past winter feeding programs to go into action at once."

The highway commission reported the sleet belt included Milwaukee, Waukesha, Racine, Kenosha, Walworth, Washington, Ozaukee, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Dodge, Columbia, Sauk, Dane, Jefferson, Green, Rock, Marquette, Green Lake, Richmond, Iowa and Lafayette counties.

These counties, Conway said, are the homes of a large share of Wisconsin's pheasants, quail, and several species of grouse. Heavy snows in other counties also buried natural feed supplies.

Conway urged those enrolled in the feeding program to include about 2 per cent of grit in any grain put out for the birds, explaining that without grit the wild fowl would die.

"The conservation wardens have charge of all winter feeding funds provided for their respective counties," he said. "It will therefore be appreciated by the conservation department if anyone desiring to secure a supply of feed or who is willing to aid us by donating grain or money for its purchase will contact his local warden at once."

Chinese Police Hunt English Girl's Slayer

Peiping, China —(P)—Chinese police officials advanced a theory today the slaying of 17-year-old Pamela Werner, whose mutilated body was found yesterday beside a lonely road, might have climaxed a love affair with a foreigner.

Authorities declared only a foreigner could have slain the vivacious English girl, daughter of a former British consular official.

Natives, they said, will not venture at night into the neighborhood where the girl's body was found, torn by wild dogs. The officials said Chinese dread the neighborhood because they believe a ghost lurks there "waiting to pull unwary victims to their death in a ditch."

Early Decision Is Seen on Child Labor Amendment

Governors' Views Range From Full Support to 'Eternal' Opposition

By the Associated Press

President Roosevelt's appeal to the governors of 19 states to make the child labor amendment to the constitution a major item in their legislative programs brought varying reactions today, ranging from complete agreement to "eternal" opposition.

In addition, a special session of Kentucky's legislature probably will pass on the proposal. Governor A. B. Chandler said he was amending his call for the session to ask ratification.

The amendment says "the congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age."

The 19 states holding regular sessions are: New Mexico, Nevada, South Carolina, North Carolina, New York, Texas, Nebraska, Maryland, Connecticut, Florida, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Tennessee, Delaware, Georgia, Kansas and Missouri.

Tennessee's governor, Gordon Browning, said flatly he was "eternally" against the amendment.

It added:

"Fully conscious of labor's rights under the public policy of the United States, we must reiterate at this time the determination of the international union, United Automobile Workers of America, to continue this struggle with all lawful means at our disposal until genuine and effective collective bargaining is accorded to the employees of the General Motors corporations."

Federation of Labor Urges Unity in State

Milwaukee —(P)—The general executive board of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor pleaded today for unity in the labor movement and attacked "ily by night, piratical" methods that threaten such unity.

Every effort must be made, the board stated at its semi-annual meeting, to hold the Wisconsin union movement intact despite the fact the Wisconsin plan for settling the craft vs. industrial unionism dispute was not acted upon by either side.

"It has not escaped us," the statement said, "that agencies have been at work in the field of organization operating in utter disregard of central bodies and the state federation of labor. Individuals, some of them union members, others with no recognized labor affiliation, representative of no legitimate body, fascinated by the hope of becoming recognized as leaders, are employing the opportunity created by groups working at cross purposes."

Italy Begins Extensive Wheat Sowing Program

Rome —(P)—Under urgent orders from Premier Benito Mussolini, Italy undertook today the most extensive sowing of wheat in its history in an effort to end a severe shortage.

The orders were issued after it was announced this year's wheat crop was 25 per cent below the average of the last three years and of inferior quality.

Authoritative agricultural sources declared the shortage is even more serious, placing the efficiency at 30 per cent.

Italy, agricultural experts warned, will be short by about 3,000,000 tons for the year. The annual consumption ranges around 8,500,000 tons.

Strikers to be Withdrawn if Negotiations are Begun

UNION AIRS STAND

Added Stipulations Set Forth in Message To Murphy

Detroit —(P)—Governor Frank Murphy, active as a conciliator in the General Motors-United Automobile Workers dispute, said today, "I believe both sides want to work out a settlement. It can be and should be done."

The governor issued his comment after the United Automobile Workers reiterated demands on General Motors for union recognition and other concessions before negotiations for settlement began.

Detroit —(P)—The United Automobile Workers in a statement today said it had informed Governor Frank Murphy it would "agree to immediate withdrawal of all down strikers in General Motors plants if negotiations are immediately opened, with recognition of the union."

There were additional stipulations, including one that strike-closed plants remain shut down without movement of equipment or resumption of activities until a national settlement is effected.

Another was that all activities, such as circulation of petitions, "organization of vigilantes," and "harassment or coercion of employees," must immediately be stopped.

The letter added: "You already have informed us that General Motors will not subscribe to such a guarantee."

The union thanked the governor for his efforts to bring about an understanding and expressed regret "that these efforts have proved unavailing, due to the rejection by General Motors of all reasonable proposals looking to a basis for opening negotiations for a settlement."

Wants Guarantee

Insisting upon a written guarantee from General Motors, the letter said "the law of the land requires more than a vague promise to be law abiding. It lays down definite specifications as to what are the employers' obligations in the matter of genuine collective bargaining. These have not been met."

"In consultation with yourself and with conciliators from the United States Department of Labor, and in the knowledge of objections which the General Motors corporation raised to certain of our proposals," the letter continued, "we have graciously modified these to the point that we are willing to agree to withdrawal of all down strikers if negotiations are immediately opened with recognition of the International Union, United Automobile Workers of America; with an agreement that all plants remain closed, without movement of equipment or resumption of activities until a national settlement is effected, and with further agreement that all activities such as circulating petitions, organizing vigilante activities, threatening or coercing employees, be immediately stopped."

It added:

"Fully conscious of labor's rights under the public policy of the United States, we must reiterate at this time the determination of the international union, United Automobile Workers of America, to continue this struggle with all lawful means at our disposal until genuine and effective collective bargaining is accorded to the employees of the General Motors corporations."

"We will not be satisfied with substitutes, shadows, or evasions, but will insist upon a guarantee of the real thing in clear and definite terms."

The passengers, including two women, lived on candy, ice cream, bread and butter during their isolation. The rescue crew brought 100 sandwiches, five dozen doughnuts, and five gallons of hot coffee.

Story of Stolen Horse Applies to Soil Loss

The story of the farmer who waited until his horse was stolen before locking the barn applies today in the loss of soil through erosion, according to E. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent.

At the Guthrie, Okla., experiment station of the soil conservation service two equal-sized fields, one eroded and the other virgin grass land, were sown to oats. The virgin land yielded more than 40 bushels to the acre while the soil-losing field produced 11 bushels.

Losing oats, a prime horse feed, is in a way equivalent to losing horses. The difference of 29 bushels is enough for the usual work horse ration for more than 100 days.

The eroded land had been in cultivation about 30 years, and continued cropping accounts for some of the difference in yield. But erosion was largely to blame for the loss of the fertility of the field. If oats were raised at 40 cents a bushel, the difference in return from the two 1-acre fields would amount to $11.60. Furthermore, the cost of terracing badly eroded land on the Guthrie project was more than three times as great as on newly broken land. These facts, according to the soil conservation service, show it pays to start saving soil on newly cleared land rather than wait until washing waters have carried away most of the good soil which had developed through the years.

LA FOLLETTE ADDRESSES DEMONSTRATING STUDENTS

Gov. Philip LaFollette, of Wisconsin, faced a thousand critical University of Wisconsin students who marched, shouting and singing from the campus in Madison to the capitol, in the state legislature's assembly hall. LaFollette made a fifteen-minute speech in which he defended himself from charges that he engineered the ouster of Dr. Glenn Frank as president of the university, whose dismissal the students were protesting. Budget Depends Largely on Gains In U. S. Business

Estimates Provide Increase Of About 90 Per Cent In Payments

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Roosevelt's latest budget figures reveal that the American people are expected to pay the federal government an increase of about 90 per cent in their tax bill within 24 months.

This is the largest jump in the federal tax bill recorded in any similar period.

What it means is that between July 1, 1936, and July 1, 1938, the item of "internal revenue" is expected to jump from $3,512,851,600 to $6,648,432,000. Reliance is frankly placed on the income tax to bring in 50 per cent of the estimated tax revenues, which means that the federal government must in some way assure the making of profits by business and industry in a sufficiently large way to permit the treasury to reap the highest total of revenues from income taxes that it has ever derived in any year not exceeding 1929.

If the treasury is right in its estimates, then the budget may come within $500,000,000 of being balanced in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938. Likewise, if the curve continues to grow, then an actual balance may be looked for in July, 1939.

Must Keep Costs Down
But the important "if" in the preceding paragraph is accompanied by another "if" of far greater importance, namely whether congress will keep the expenditures down to the levels placed by the president for the coming years and whether the executive branch of the government will find a way of materially holding down expenses in the regular establishment something which has not yet appeared on the horizon.

The most disappointing feature of the president's budget message is that, as relief expenditures are cut down, the expenses for the regular establishment of the government are moved upward. Bureaucracy deeply entrenched rarely is divested of its hold on the federal pay roll.

Thus, the president's message discloses that "general expenditures for regular activities" for the fiscal year 1938 show an increase of $740,821,000 over the year 1937. Even when debt retirement and certain non-recurring soldier bonus payments are deducted, the official figure of expenditures "for regular activities" shows a net increase of $718,831,000 over 1937.

Out of this sum, if one deducts the social security expense of $438,337,000, the regular activities in 1938 still will cost $282,494,000 more than in 1937. This does not augur well for a balanced budget in 1939, as hoped for by Mr. Roosevelt, because this trend of expenses must somehow and sometime turn downward.

In other words, expenses for the regular establishment keep on growing and the treasury predicts bigger and bigger revenues from taxes on the assumption of bigger and bigger individual and business profits.

Higher Prices
Now, there is another important factor to be taken into consideration—the added cost of commodities to the public and to the government itself, due to the way increased taxes are imbedded in the price structure. Should there be a downward fluctuation in business after the next three years, the government, which has placed such great faith in income taxes, might find itself with a sudden jump in the size of the deficits—an event that would be psychologically of deep significance in considering government credit.

The question may also be raised as to how rapidly the national income can grow if prices rise to a point that diminishes consumption. With a $7,000,000,000 budget on the part of the federal government and increases due to social security taxes, the total cost of federal, state and city government in America will soon reach the $20,000,000,000 mark. The national income is not yet rising at a rate fast enough to absorb any such rapid increases in the total cost of government. Even if the federal government does not increase its total debt beyond $35,000,000,000, as at present planned, the size of the annual tax contribution toward the cost of government in America may be so formidable as to break down the processes of employment and cause a return of federal relief expenses.

Incidentally, all of Mr. Roosevelt's figures are predicated on another "if" which he has introduced in nearly every one of his last few messages on fiscal affairs, namely the responsibility of "business" to absorb the unemployed.

Business "On Spot"

If the budget isn't balanced in 1939, it is to be industry's fault and not by any remote chance is it to be due to the bureaucrats in Washington, who have gradually increased the expenses for the regular establishment, taking over some of the "emergency" agencies as permanent institutions for the outlay of federal funds.

The president promises to hold the relief expense to $1,537,123,000 for the fiscal year 1938, "on the assumption that industry will cooperate in employing men and women from the relief rolls in larger numbers than during the past year."

Why do not the employers give jobs to all the people now on relief or without jobs? It must be because they do not feel that they can employ more people and keep their own budgets in balance or earn enough to pay the government the taxes it so sorely needs. Many businesses would like to employ more people, but the government tells them they must, in effect, increase their costs by shortening hours and yet not reduce the money in the pay envelopes. Business is asked, in effect, to make a definite increase in pay roll expense for the same output and simultaneously the president requests that more persons actually be taken on the pay roll. That's a paradox of the situation which is not readily understood by the organized groups who want pay increases by means of shorter hours of work.

Partner With Business
From now on, however, the federal government becomes vitally interested in profits because it has become a much more important partner on a percentage basis with American businesses and individuals. The less business earns, the less tax money is available. The more business earns, the more likely the picture of estimated receipts which the treasury has put down on paper will show signs of being realized.

There is an alternative possibility. Some day, the federal government may decide that it knows more about managing American business than do the owners.

This has happened in countries where fascism has been introduced. Thus, in the United States, in recent weeks, many millions of dollars in tax receipts have been lost to the United States government through the stoppage of production in the automobile industry. The federal government may not relish it perhaps, but unless labor and capital can get along and both cooperate to give the tax collector what he needs to satisfy the bureau-

Grant Divorce Decree On Grounds of Cruelty

A divorce from Lyrurgus Zarna, East Chicago, Ind., was granted to Mrs. Charlene Zarna, Kaukauna, by Municipal Judge Thomas H. Ryan Friday. Mrs. Zarna charged cruel and inhuman treatment and the defendant did not contest the suit.

There was one child by the marriage and custody was awarded to Mrs. Zarna. Her husband was ordered to pay $15 a month toward the child's support.

crats, the government may find it desirable to exercise rigid control over both. This development would not be democracy and it to be deplored, but the implications of a tax system which depends so largely on profitable operation of American business and above all on uninterrupted production can hardly be overlooked as the president lays before the American people an unprecedented schedule of expected tax payments.

State Advocates New Penalties for Drunken Drivers

Stringent Measures Needed To Curb Menace, Safety Department Holds

Heavier penalties for drunken drivers convicted in Wisconsin are advocated by the safety department of the state highway commission in a bulletin received by F. R. Appleton, county highway commissioner.

"Drinking and drunken drivers have proven themselves to be a real menace on the highway, the bulletin states. 'Many think after a few drinks that they are much better drivers and are fully capable of handling their cars in the proper manner and as a result, refuse to listen to reason. They go out on the highway and take the life of some innocent individual. The paying of a fine isn't solving the problem, which means that something more stringent is necessary to keep our streets and highways free of this menace. Those individuals who see fit to continue this practice must be deprived of some of their privileges, before they are brought to their senses. The courts throughout the state are gradually stiffening the sentences. Enforcement officers are watching for this type of destructive operator, but the public too must do its share in cooperating with the elimination of this evil.'"

"The plea that accompanies the imprisonment or suspension of a driver's license under such conditions is that the rest of the violator's family must suffer, but isn't it better for them to suffer than to put the bread winner of some other family in the hospital or morgue."

"If there is to be drinking in the group or party, the safest thing to do is to hire a car with a sober driver or one of the party abstain from drinking so that that car will be safe not only for the occupants but for the rest of the public using the highways."

"Science has shown a way to determine whether or not a person has had 'just two beers' or whether he is a menace to the driving and walking public. We must begin to realize that drunken drivers are taking too many lives in our state and if it is necessary to take drastic measures, let us take them. The courts of our state can assist materially by stiffening the penalties."

Other charges included 3 of larceny, 4 of vagrancy, 3 of drunkenness, 2 of disorderly conduct, two of operating a motor vehicle without proper licenses, plates, 2 of reckless driving and one each of operating a taxi without a license, drunken driving, leaving the scene of an accident without furnishing identification, failing to stop for an arterial sign, carrying a concealed weapon, burglary, abandonment and operating a vehicle with faulty brakes.

The department's armored car was used in response to 137 calls and traveled 837 miles. The No. 1 squad car traveled 2,603 miles and the No. 2 car 2,571 miles.

Seek U. S. Okay For 2 New Parks For Wisconsin

Duffy and Schneider Backing Two Movements In Congress

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Wisconsin will have two new parks, one national and one state, if action inaugurated in this session of congress is successful.

The assistance of Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Fond du Lac has been enlisted in acquiring the site of the prehistoric Indian stockade known as Aztalan on the Crawfish river near Lake Mills, for a national park.

Sponsoring this move are the Wisconsin Archeological society of Madison, the State Historical Museum, and the Milwaukee Public Museum.

Representative George J. Schneider of Appleton has already introduced a bill authorizing the secretary of commerce to convey approximately 70 acres of the Twin River Point lighthouse reservation in Manitowoc county to the state for a state park.

This bill provides that the United States reserves the right to resume ownership and control for government purpose if it should deem necessary.

Senator Duffy has notified Charles E. Brown, secretary of the Wisconsin Archeological Society, that the National Park Service has no funds for acquiring the Aztalan property, valued at $50,000. If a favorable report for its acquisition by the federal government is returned by Thomas M. Pitkin, assistant historian of the NPS who has investigated the site, Senator Duffy said he would introduce a bill providing for acquisition.

Huey's Old Oil Firm in Louisiana Cuts Big Melon

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
New York—James A. Huey, former governor of Louisiana, and former henchman of Huey Long, reported an income of $92,396 for the year 1935 as president of the Win or Lose Corp., a Louisiana oil company. Seymour Weiss, who was Huey's political treasurer, reported the same income as vice president of the company.

The Win or Lose Corp. was formed in the summer of 1934 at the height of Huey Long's dictatorship, and at the time his spectacular campaign against the Standard Oil Co. Huey had made a tax placing a high tax on oil refined by the Standard. The Standard threatened to close down, throwing thousands of Louisiana workmen out of jobs. The workmen turned against the kingfish, and Huey met the situation by turning the tax into a "protective tariff." He said the Standard had been importing cheap crude oil from its Latin-American fields, refining it in Louisiana and neglecting the Louisiana wells. He said the Mississippi belonged to him, and refused to let Standard Oil use his river to move foreign crude oil at low cost at the detriment of Louisiana producers. After a loud wrangle, Huey waived 80 per cent of the refining tax on Louisiana oil as a means of compelling Standard to petition the Louisiana legislature for a public-spirited defender of his home state. kingfish took the position of a public-spirited defender of his home state.

During the excitement over the tax negotiations, Huey quickly gave the Win or Lose Corp., a concession to drill 90 wells in the center of the state preserve which contains the richest field in Louisiana. In return for this privilege, the Win or Lose Corp. agreed to give the state one-eighth of the oil.

The formation of the company and the granting of the concessions were accomplished with very little publicity, although several of the young student journalists who had been fired out of Louisiana State university for lese majesty made an effort to call attention to the deal. They said it was Teapot Dome on a small scale—and not so small, at that—but the young men didn't know how, and anyway it would have taken a legislative investigation and prosecution by a state officer to get results. Huey owned both the legislature and the courts, so the concession to the Win or Lose Corp. went through without challenge, and the company apparently struck it rich almost immediately.

Huey's Secretary is Given a Portion
Earl Christenberry, who was Huey's own secretary, was cut in on the Win or Lose Corp., as secretary, but there is no mention of his income from the wells in the list published here. The company's capitalization was given as $100,000.

It is impossible to guess what division of the money would have been made if Huey had not been killed. After his death his share of the wealth organization, protected by copyright and patent, descended to his widow as private property and was placed in storage, so to speak, notwithstanding efforts by the Rev. Gerald Smith to take it on the road and exploit it. Huey's political organization fell apart, and Weiss, among others, made peace with President Roosevelt and Jim Farley.

Weiss and four other members of Huey's organization were under indictment at the time of Huey's death for violation of the income tax law. Up to the time of the surrender, the department of justice seemed determined to press the prosecution which, if successful during the presidential campaign, would have been a great help to Mr. Roosevelt's organization in Louisiana. With Huey dead and the opposition removed, however, the department of justice quashed the indictment, explaining that owing to a "change of atmosphere" in New Orleans it was deemed inadvisable to proceed.

GENERAL WEATHER

The storm which was central over Illinois yesterday morning has moved rapidly northeastward, and now over the upper Mississippi valley. Light to moderate precipitation has occurred during the last 24 hours over the central states and Lake region, but fair weather is general this morning over all sections from the plains states to the Pacific coast.

It is now much colder over the northern central states and Lake region, but temperatures are rising over the northern Rocky mountains and the Canadian Northwest. Sub-zero temperatures are general this morning over most of Wisconsin and the upper Mississippi valley, and the central and northern plains states.

Fair weather with slowly rising temperature is expected in this section tonight, followed by cloudy and unsettled with rising temperature Sunday.

Discuss Operation Of 1937 Soil Program

Operation of the soil conservation and domestic allotment act in 1937 was discussed at a district meeting at Green Bay Friday in which Outagamie and Calumet county representatives participated.

R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent, and Chester A. Dunson, assistant, accompanied the Outagamie-Calumet allotment committee to the meeting. Community meetings for election of officers will be held in the two counties soon, Swanson stated today.

Thieves Enter Postel Home at Potato Point

While his owner was attending the funeral of his wife Friday morning, the residence of James Postel, Potato Point, was burglarized, according to a report to the sheriff's department.

The marauder apparently entered through a side window and escaped with some small change and two envelopes containing paper of no value. An investigation was made by Deputy Kenneth Gerharz of the sheriff's department and Jack Frenz, county motorcycle officer.

FUNERAL MONDAY

Funeral services for George M. Schommer, 34, above, who died Friday morning, will be held at the Schommer funeral home at 9:30 Monday morning and at St. Joseph's Catholic church at 10 o'clock. He was an associate of the Schommer funeral home for 17 years.

It Is Said--

THAT if there were no other indications today that the mercury dropped below the zero mark, rubber boots, owned by Chief George P. McGullan of the Appleton Fire department, would be a certain sign. When the weather is mild, the boots are carried in the rear of the chief's car and put on, if needed, after the chief reaches the scene of a fire. In sub-zero weather however, the boots stand on the floor beside the car, ready for instant use. When he arrived at the station this morning, the chief loosened the laces on his shoes and stood the boots out on the floor.

That although the sturgeon spearfishing season on Lake Winnebago opened Tuesday, only one fisherman has appeared at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, to spend a quarter for sturgeon tags. The lack of enthusiasm is attributed to lack of sufficient ice on the lake during the earlier part of the week.

That police consider the city's accident record during the last few days a tribute to the skill and caution of Appleton motorists under adverse driving conditions. In spite of the coating of ice and snow on city streets, no accidents, not even of the minor fender-bending type, have been reported to police since Tuesday evening.

That the name "Kaukauna" is often a puzzle to strangers, who wonder as to its correct pronunciation and significance. According to authentic information, the word is of Winnebago Indian origin, and means "stopping place of the picker."

Tom Reardon, Kaukauna, north side road commissioner whose business is keeping thoroughfares free of snow and in good condition for manipulating automobiles, encountered considerable difficulty Friday morning in backing his own car from his garage into the street.

Later in the day, his car again refused to move in the middle of Lave street, and had it not been for the kindness of a truck driver who pushed him along, the street commissioner might still be making complimentary remarks about the weather, which meant additional work for his department. Reardon now carries a bucket of sand in his car for emergencies.

That the children's department of the public library is an ideal place to read ghost stories on a windy day. The wind creates an eerie howl due to ornamental pillars in the front of the building and it can be easily heard in the room.

That a number of persons were disappointed that the expected fireworks at the meeting sponsored by the Men's Bible class of the First Methodist Episcopal church Friday night did not materialize. Colonel Frank Schneller of Neenah was the speaker, and the committee in charge made arrangements for an open forum discussion following his talk so that the many persons who disagreed with his statements about Germany, made in a number of lectures in this vicinity since his return from Europe, might have a chance to ask him questions and state their views. Whether the entertaining motion pictures of his travels which Colonel Schneller showed lulled his audience into a too pleasant mood to argue or whether it was too late, when Chairman C. C. Nelson asked for a discussion, no one responded and the meeting was adjourned.

That the subjects of conversation among transients housed at a county jail over night may be surprising. With 28 knights of the road sheltered at the county jail last night, Sheriff John Lappen overheard a heated argument among his "guests" about the ouster of Dr. Glenn Frank as president of the University of Wisconsin.

That when the first five days of the month passed without an application for a marriage license at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, it was considered unusual, but now that nine days have passed without any customers a

Badger Newspapers Air Views on Frank Ouster

Milwaukee—(P)—Wisconsin newspapers expressed a variety of opinions in editorials on the Dr. Glenn Frank dismissal.

The Madison Capital Times, stating only the future "can disprove or verify" the charge that the ouster originated in politics, described Frank as a "symptom of the subordination of public interest to self-interest," and declared:

"Glenn Frank has fallen because he yielded to the temptations inspired by a vaunting personal ambition. . . But that is an indictment which can be made against public service generally in Wisconsin today. . . Governor LaFollette must now apply the same yardstick to other fields of public service in the state that he has so vigorously applied against Frank. If he doesn't, the charge that the governor was actuated by personal considerations in his attitude toward Frank will find substantiation."

"The university," the Two Rivers Reporter said, "suffers worse than Dr. Frank, who comes out of the affair with scarcely any loss of prestige and in the role of a martyr in the cause of academic freedom—what had nothing to do with the case. . . The Madison atmosphere is bad for the university's academic spirit, surely. . . Keep the university free of politics—that's the objective. How to do it is another matter to which few of us can give a straight answer."

The Wisconsin Rapids Tribune said the ouster "is no surprise to neral home and at 2:30 at the Zion Lutheran church with the Rev. Theodore Marth in charge. Burial was in Riverside cemetery. Bear and at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph's Catholic church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon until the funeral home and 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery, Greenville. Prayers will be said at the funeral home by the Third Order of St. Francis at 8 o'clock Sunday evening and by the Christian Mothers society at 7:30 Monday evening."

MRS. SOPHIA PLAMANN
Mrs. Sophia Plamann, 72, died at her home, 924 E. North street, at 12:45 this afternoon following an illness of about two weeks. She moved to Appleton from the town of Grand Chute 13 years ago.

Survivors are three sons, Robert, William and Oscar Plamann, town of Grand Chute, seven daughters, Mrs. Albert Krueger, Freedom, Mrs. Charles Boers and Mrs. Herman Wolff, Grand Chute, Mrs. Emil Rohloff, Fond du Lac county, Mrs. Edward Ziegler, town of Center and Mrs. Adolph Rise and Miss Esther Plamann, Appleton; 40 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren.

those who have followed the situation closely, for from the very outset it has appeared to be a cut and dried proposition. The decision could have been made a month ago and the vote would have been the same."

"How in the name of common sense are you going to prove the absence of politics when the resolution stabs a man in the back, fires him without warning?" The Sheboygan Press asked. "Nothing so unfair has ever been attempted in this state, and yet Mr. Wilkie, as chairman of the board, said in his opening statement. It is not a question of removal at all. We would like to get President Frank's interpretation of what a boot looks like."

The LaCrosse Tribune said there "is so much of a blow-up-trumped-up atmosphere about the whole mess, the specific charges against Dr. Frank are so dilute, and the underlying truths which explain just exactly why this thing had to happen are so much in evidence, that the contrast between them and the injury brought upon the university is nothing short of amazing."

"Despite all obstacles thrown in the way of a fair hearing," the Wausau Record-Herald stated "sufficient evidence was brought to light to indicate, despite denials, Governor LaFollette had taken an active interest in efforts to oust Dr. Frank. . . While we admire Dr. Frank as a lecturer, a thinker and a writer, and as the possessor of many estimable personal qualities, we have long doubted whether he possesses the qualities needed in an executive of a great educational institution. . ."

The Antigo Journal said "Glenn Frank is out and there isn't any possibility of the eight members changing their minds. In fact their minds were made up long before the hearing started."

In an editorial headed, "All Wisconsin Stunned," the Kenosha Evening News said that if the charges against Frank were true, "the regents must accept some blame for allowing them to exist for such a length of time."

RUTHVEN ALARMED

Ann Arbor, Mich.—(P)—Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, said today the dismissal of Dr. Glenn Frank from the presidency of the University of Wisconsin "has serious implications for higher education in America."

"In these times," Dr. Ruthven said "when state-supported universities and colleges in increasing numbers are coming under political and bureaucratic control, the trustees of a great institution like the University of Wisconsin would do well to avoid even the appearance of willingness to destroy the freedom of our schools."

Madison—(P)—The Wisconsin Student alliance campus liberal organization, issued a statement today asking for the appointment of a new university president who will be "consistent with Wisconsin's liberal traditions and precedents."

"The issue before the university at present is not one of political control," the statement said. "On the contrary, we feel that the welfare of the university is the principal concern of the student body."

The alliance suggested the regents name a successor to Glenn Frank, who will devote full time to the university, make the administration wholly democratic, reorganize the curriculum to fit changing needs of the times, work for higher scholastic standards and provide educational opportunities for all students "irrespective of the financial responsibilities of their parents."

3 Budget Bills To be Presented To Legislature

Solons May Take Choice of Three Separate Measures

BY KENNETH HOPPING
Madison—(P)—The executive budget bill for the next two years which Governor LaFollette intends to place before the legislature will be laid down in three parts, "A-B-C" fashion, with instructions to the lawmakers to choose which they want.

The bill has not been drawn as yet, but in tentative form it is as follows:

"A" budget—for approximately $51,000,000. This is about the current level of state spending and would require little or no new taxes.

"B" budget—appropriating upwards of $65,000,000. This will call for increases in pension and school funds and adjustments in the administrative costs of the university, teachers colleges and operating departments.

"C" budget—appropriating in excess of $80,000,000. It would make conditional allowance for new buildings which the university and other departments have reported as sorely needed.

Determine Amount
This form of bill is the same as the one Governor LaFollette submitted to the 1935 legislature. The theory behind it is that the legislature should first determine how much money it is willing to appropriate and then levy whatever taxes are needed to meet the appropriation.

The state senate of 1935 had the opposite viewpoint. It wanted to know first what the governor's tax program would be.

The chief executive will submit recommendations on the appropriations he regards as essential, but will probably withhold his tax plans until the legislators give their verdict on expenditures.

To provide state departments with all the money they requested would require a $40,000,000 increase in costs. The granting of such an increase is generally regarded as out of the question because it means virtual doubling of state expense.

Upward Turn Seen
Tax estimates indicate that normal revenues have taken an upward turn with better business conditions, but the increase so far is offset by the fact that the budget balancing taxes of 1935 upon incomes, inheritances and gifts will expire at the end of the fiscal year next June.

Out of these taxes came the money to pay the state's share of social security aids and increased allowances to the elementary schools.

Governor LaFollette recently completed the preliminary hearings in which he examined all budget requests in detail. After going over the results with his advisers he will offer his finance bill with a special message within a month or two after the legislature convenes, January 13.

The chamber will sponsor the county 4-H club achievement day program on Jan. 29 and $100 was appropriated for the purpose. A committee of chamber members will be named in the near future to study proposed state legislation at the January session of the legislature and join with other chambers in a united effort to present views of business regarding the proposed laws.

TOWN TAXI

Request Hearing On Plan to Give Land to Indians

Town of Oneida Objects to Purchase of Tax Producing Properties

Protesting against the proposed government acquisition of certain 20-acre tracts of farm land for use by Oneida Indians, town of Oneida officials now are awaiting notice of a federal hearing they have requested.

The government now has option on some 20-acre tracts which are in the best farming section of the town and are producing tax income. The town officials and white residents are questioning whether any taxes could be obtained by the town if the land were given to the Indians and also are objecting on the ground that use of these 20-acre tracts by the Indians would reduce the value of surrounding property.

It is the objectors' contention that the government plan could be operated more effectively if land in the northeast portion of the town were purchased.

The federal program is designed to locate the Indians on income producing lands scattered among the properties held by whites rather than segregated.

G. F. Clifford, Green Bay attorney, representing the town, has presented the protest to the federal Indian bureau through Senator F. Ryan Duffy and has asked for a hearing. Clifford claims that even the Indians are not in favor of the plan as now proposed.

Relief From Cold Wave Due Tonight, Snow to Follow

Mercury Dropped to 10 Below Zero Early This Morning

A slowly rising temperature tonight and tomorrow will follow the sudden cold wave that struck Appleton and vicinity early last night, the weatherman said today. Increasing cloudiness Sunday with snow through the extreme east and south portions of the state are predicted for Sunday.

The temperature began dropping rapidly early last night and reached a minimum point at 7:30 this morning when it was 10 below zero. The highest mark in the last 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning was 20 degrees, according to the readings taken at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

The cold spell cleared up slippery road conditions to some extent and travel was getting back to normal today. The mercury topped the zero mark shortly before noon.

'Great White Way' Features Stars

'Little White Lie' Turins Musical Comedy
Topsy-Turvy

A little white lie turns a musical show topsy-turvy and makes Broadway exert all its make-believe to make a mother's dream come true in "Star for a Night," Twentieth Century-Fox picture showing at the Elite theatre on Monday and Tuesday, Bargain Days.

Featuring Claire Trevor, Jane Darwell, Arline Judge, Evelyn Venable, J. Edward Bromberg, Dean Jagger and Alan Dinehart, the film has a laugh, a lilt, a thrill and a heart-pang as it unfolds its delightfully entertaining and amusing story.

When their mother, Jane Darwell, arrives on a surprise visit, Claire Trevor, Evelyn Venable and Dean Jagger are panic-stricken. They have contrived a gallant pretense in their letters home, and the mother believes they are all famous and successful. In reality, Claire is in the chorus of a Broadway show, Evelyn plays piano in a five-and-ten, and Jagger drives a taxi.

The mother has lost her sight and the children manage to keep up their make-believe but J. Edward Bromberg, noted eye specialist, throws a bombshell into their midst by announcing that he can cure the mother by an operation.

The operation is successful and Claire moves Miss Darwell into a beautiful apartment which she has temporarily borrowed from another girl in the show.

'College Holiday' Is Gorgeous Musicales

Madcap, hilarious and giddy—tuneful, gay and gorgeous—is "College Holiday," which opens at the Rio theatre next Friday. You can rate it right now as the laugh hit of the season.

Headed by a half dozen of America's greatest film makers, and supported by a cast of brilliant specialists, "College Holiday" sets a new high standard in comedies with music for Hollywood to shoot at.

Jack Benny, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Mary Boland, and Martha Raye are in charge of the laughs, and the assignment could not have been placed in more capable hands. The love interest is maintained by Marsha Hunt, Lief Erikson, Eleanore Whitney, Johnny Downs, Olympe Bradna and Louis Dabron, with featured roles by Ben Blue and Etienne Girardot. A chorus of beautiful girls trained by Leroy Prinz introduces sprightly dance routines.

"College Holiday" is the story of a pair of crackpot cultists, played by Miss Boland and Girardot, who take over a bankrupt hotel, do it over into a Roman garden, and there propose to find out if it is possible to do away with love.

Gracie Allen plays the part of Girardot's daughter. She is endowed with a fifth sense which prophesies her with the ability, she thinks, of determining who is best suited for whom. Benny, press agent of the hotel, brings a group of college boys and girls to the hotel—ostensibly for the experiment, but actually to rally paying guests.

"The Lonely Trail" Is Lively Outdoor Drama
Fremont Pass, in which General John C. Fremont staged a decisive battle against the Mexicans before California became a state, is the locale for a furious fight between opposing forces in "The Lonely Trail," Republic's thrilling historical picture of Texas in Civil War days which brings John Wayne and other players to the Elite theatre today and Sunday.

Wayne plays the role of an aggressive leader of Texas ranchers who wage a long fight to rid their state of carpet-baggers who rob the citizens through heavy taxes and create a reign of terror with their raiding band of murdering ex-soldiers in the chaotic days which followed the end of the Civil War.

Fremont Pass, forty miles north of Hollywood, where blood ran freely in the pine woods of California, again rings with musket shots and six-shooter battles as Wayne and his men battle in the night with the northern raiders.

"Bird Lovers' Anthology" Is Praised by Hussong

BY CLARA HUSSONG

More than 50 years ago John Burroughs wrote a nature sketch "Nature and the Poets," in which he analyzed the treatment of Nature by the poets of his day. In this sketch, now included in the volume "Pepacton," he points out apt descriptions and accuracy of detail as well as glaring mistakes or the light tripping over facts.

Recently I discovered that two modern poets, Clinton Scollard and Jessie B. Rittenhouse, have compiled an anthology of bird poems "Bird Lovers' Anthology" is published by Houghton Mifflin company of Boston and New York and it contains poems which will delight the heart of the bird lover who likes to read about his favorite hobby as well as to follow it in a more active way.

Most of the poems are well written and truthful in their description of coloring, song or habit of the subject. Here and there I found a line with which I did not agree and in this article I shall attempt to follow Burroughs' example in my humble way.

Likens Herons to Old Men
One of the most striking poems is Elizabeth Shyne's "Herons of Bo Island" in which she likens the herons to lean old men who "thump their shoulders gray." The description of the birds in the second stanza is peculiarly apt and original:

"They turn up their coat collars
And stand so gloomily;
And somehow, as I watch them,
It always seems to me
That in their trouser pockets
Their wrinkled hands must be."

After reading that I knew that for me the colonies of herons on the west bay shore and elsewhere in the state will always be lean old men who stand together with their shoulders humped and their hands in their pockets. After this apt comparison the poet spoils the third stanza by having their "legs hanging downward and their slim necks stretched out" in flight, it is a well-known fact that herons fly with legs trailing horizontally and their necks drawn in against their breasts.

In his sketch Burroughs was most bitterly opposed to the poets who gave the American blackbird robin, cuckoo and lark the characteristics of the European birds of the same name but often of an entirely different species. In "The Cuckoo" Richard Le Gallienne has the bird calling in high voice from a hill, "I believe, he was born in that country, his specifications were all wrong. Our cuckoo sings from shady woods and his voice is very low and guttural.

He "Shouts for Joy"

The song of the bluebird as portrayed by Burroughs' contemporaries came under criticism and in this volume too I find that Emily Dickinson says that he "shouts for joy." His subdued murmur could never be called a shout and is only his call note. He puts on no exhibition of song as most of our birds do but uses his soft warble merely as a love message for his mate.

The skylark shares honors with the nightingale in being the most celebrated bird of England. Two of our women poets visited British shores and told their reactions to his song. In her beautiful poem, "On First Having Heard the Skylark," Edna St. Vincent Millay tells us she was "Transfixed by more than mortal spears. I fell; I lay among the foreign daisies pink and small, and wept, staining their innocent faces with fast-flowing tears." (How like Edna!)

In a poem of lesser merit but more patriotism, "A Word With a Skylark," Sara M. B. Platt shows her disappointment and ends:

"Oh, Lark of Europe, downward flitting near,
Like some spent leaf at best,
You'd never sing again if you could hear
My Bluebird of the West."

"I Heard A Wood-Thrush"

The songs of the various thrushes are described in more than a dozen poems. Their peculiar vibrating quality is suggested in Sara Teasdale's "Wood Song":

"I heard a wood-thrush in the dusk Twirl three notes and make a star."
In Alice Meynell's "A Thrush Before Dawn" we hear again the song described as "a praise of notes resembling stars."

The Wilson's thrush, or veery, has become dear to me the past few years because of its presence in this vicinity. Henry Van Dyke's simple lyric suggests the tranquility of its native haunts. He closes "The Veery" with the following lines:

"But far away, and far away,
The tawny thrush is singing;
New England woods, at close of day, with that clear chant, are ringing."

And when my light of life is low,
And heart and flesh are weary,
I fain would hear, before I go,
The woodnotes of the veery."

'Daniel Boone' Is Coming to Screen

Plays at Appleton Theater
With George O'Brien
As Star

Hardships and perils of early settlers in America, the courage and determination they displayed, are all brought to life on the screen in "Daniel Boone" which will play next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Appleton Theatre.

Starring George O'Brien as Boone, and featuring Heather Angel as the young aristocrat who follows her family into the wilderness and eventually gives her heart to Boone, the story dramatizes one of the most heroic accomplishments of one of the most intriguing epochs in American history.

It depicts the migration of the thirty families of Yadkin, North Carolina, who set out to carve a new home out of the wilderness which lay beyond the Cumberland mountains. Led by Boone, they begin their epic journey, transporting livestock, house possessions, and farm implements through forests, over rushing rivers and into untracked bad-lands. After the new settlement of Booneborough is erected it is subject to a nine-day attack by Indians, and when this battle has been won the settlers learn that they have been swindled out of their new holdings by unscrupulous politicians.

Fighting and singing, laughing and loving, tempestuously living their own lives in their shantyboat colony in the lower Mississippi river, the primitive and picturesque characters in the drama with music, "Banjo On My Knee," enact a story that provides distinctively different screen fare, which will be enthusiastically approved by every type of audience.

Distinguished by its fine production qualities, it has been ideally cast with Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea co-starred in the leading roles, and with the very important supporting characterizations entrusted to such talented and popular players as Helen Westley, Buddy Ebsen, Walter Brennan and Katherine De Mille.

Fight Starts to Win Seaway Okay

Proponents Want Treaty Approving Project Ratified at This Term

Washington—With the Seventy-fifth congress not a week old, supporters of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway have already begun their campaign for ratification of the treaty which would make the project possible.

Striking at the Mississippi Valley groups who protest the proposed seaway, R. F. Malia of the Great Lakes Harbors Association in Milwaukee has contacted members of the House rivers and harbors committee, urging their support.

"It is time for the Mississippi groups constantly clamoring for federal money for their waterway to cease guerilla warfare on the Great Lakes seaway," Malia declared.

Malia promised a strong fight to secure ratification, and said that every community in the Great Lakes region will have to do its part.

Declaring that the hypocrisy of the opposition has long been evident, Malia said, "Their cry for greater diversion is a sham. The Supreme Court has declared the Chicago diversion to be illegal and limited the amount to be taken. The Army engineers have repeatedly stated the amount permitted by the Supreme Court to be simple for practical navigation."

THEY STAR IN ONE FEATURE ON TWIN BILL

Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea head the cast of "Banjo On My Knee" coming on a twin bill at the Appleton theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The huge supporting cast includes Buddy Ebsen, Walter "Come and Get It" Brennan, and Walter Catlett.

The added feature is "Daniel Boone" starring George O'Brien with Heather Angel, in which the white idol of the Red Man lives again in a stirring drama of the pioneers.

Hollywood News And Gossip

By Robbin Coon

Hollywood—Getting down to the bottom of things when your movie idol is posing for a close-up, you probably will find she has feet of soft, comfortable felt—or practical, heel-less mules, or roomy woolen slippers.

In the long shots, when the camera will see her feet, she will wear the latest, highest-heeled bit of leather that may be required for style and glamor, but give her a chance to shake them off, even for a minute or two, and out come the slippers.

Making pictures means being on your toes figuratively, and on your feet literally, most of the time you're working. Even with a stand-in to take the pedal beating for the star whenever possible, the actress takes a weary pair of dogs home when the director's last "cut" for the day is given.

On Feet Constantly

Comparatively few movie scenes allow a player to sit down for any length of time, even when the scene is purely conversational. When talk stops the action the players have to move around to keep their bodies, if not the plot, in motion. Count in the several takes, with entrances and exits, on each scene, then the many rehearsals, plus the strolling around the player does to kill time between shots, and it is considerable walking and standing that is done.

Katharine Hepburn, strolling over to her "Quality Street" set, is elegantly costumed and coiffured but her feet are shod with plain green boudoir slippers. Another comfort-lover is Margaret Sullivan, who switches to roomy slippers the minute a scene is done, and wears them in the scene if she can get by with it. Sylvia Sydney kicks off her high-heeled footwear and changes to the low-heeled shoes she prefers for comfort. In fact, almost all the stars, given half an opportunity, will exchange camera-dictated bootery for plain, folksy, easy slippers.

One of the exceptions is Joan Blondell, who in pictures wears very high heels and does not seem to mind, on stage or off. Jean Muir and Kay Francis, usually tall among romantic ladies, sometimes wear slippers on the stage for a practical reason—in high heels they might detract from the photographic height of other members of the cast.

Footwear, even for the stars in pictures, is seldom brand-new before the camera. In the wardrobe department they take care of stretching new shoes to make them "feel" old, to eliminate squeaks, and otherwise break them in.

Mae West Goes to Farm for Romance

'Go West Young Man' Is Brilliant New Screen Comedy

Mae West among the cows and chickens! Romance in a barnyard and love among the haystacks! That's "Go West Young Man," Miss West's latest starring vehicle with Warren William, Randolph Scott, Lyle Talbot and many others, which will be shown at the Rio Theatre, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

With Miss West cast as a high strung and romantic movie actress enjoin by her contract from indulging in romance, and with Warren William as the press agent who accompanies her to make sure she doesn't violate the contract, "Go West Young Man" deals with the curvaceous actress's attempts to find love and William's efforts to frustrate her.

After a personal appearance in Washington, Miss West meets Talbot, an old flame, and makes a date with him. This is "crabbed" by William who invites the press to the tete-a-tete. She promises to meet Talbot in Harrisburg where she is to make her next appearance. On the way her car breaks down and she is forced to put up at the farm of Alice Brady while Scott, a mechanic, fixes it. She is furious at the delay but when she sees the handsome mechanic she decides to remain.

She learns that Scott is working on an invention for talking pictures and she accepts his invitation to inspect the invention in his workshop. He fails to fall for her obvious play for him. Tongues begin to bubble, and Margaret Perry, Scott's sweetheart, is broken-hearted at the turn of events.

William prevents a private meeting between Miss West and Scott by inviting the entire countryside to the farm to get the star's autograph. Later, when Miss West comes to Scott's room to inspect his plans for the invention, he breaks it up again.

'Let's Make a Million' Tells Story of Bonus

The jam one man's bonus got him into is humorously portrayed in "Let's Make A Million," a gay comedy in the Edward Everett Horton manner which will open at the Appleton Theatre next week Tuesday.

Like thousands of his erstwhile brethren-in-arms who were suddenly enriched by the bonus, Horton wants to get married. The object of his affections is pretty Charlotte Wynters. But his maiden aunts, the famous "Pillaxed Sisters" of "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," have other plans for his money, and it is their interference, plus the dice doings of a pair of phoney stock dealers which builds up the madcap climax in which Horton finds himself richer than he ever thought it possible to be, while the villain, or villains rather, the "pillaxed" pair, skulk off in the corner.

Funny as they were in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" the "Pillaxed" pair played by Margaret Seddon and Margaret McWade, reach new heights as entertainers, and it's our prophecy that if they continue in the same roles in future pictures (filmgoers are going to have a comedy pair to follow who are entirely in a class by themselves. "Under Cover of Night" presents a new type of mystery story and Lowe creates a new sort of detective. The audience is given each clue as he comes upon it and accordingly follows him in the process of solution, step by step.

State Approves Changes

Appleton, county highway commissioner, has been informed. MORE SUPERVISORS FROM CITIES

Comment around the state indicates that considerable interest has been aroused in the effort initiated here to make it possible for cities like Appleton to obtain larger representation on their county boards of supervisors. Not less than a dozen cities in Wisconsin are dissatisfied with their county board representation, so far as numbers are concerned, but are loathe to apply the remedy which the law presently provides, because they feel that the evils thereby created would be worse than the benefits derived.

Taxpayers and voters in many Wisconsin cities are at a distinct disadvantage in the operation of county affairs because the law as now written makes it extremely difficult to increase the number of city representatives on county boards. The only way it now can be done is to increase the number of wards, which would also increase the number of aldermen on the city councils and, what is worse, would raise havoc with thousands of property descriptions that are based on ward lines. But in spite of these difficulties, several cities recently have increased the number of wards in order to get more supervisors.

For Appleton to have proportional representation on the Outagamie county board it should elect at least 45 per cent of the total number of supervisors. That would mean from 24 to 26 supervisors from the city, and in order to obtain that number it would be necessary to have from 24 to 26 wards, with from 48 to 52 aldermen. It must be obvious that this would create a condition worse than the one it seeks to remedy.

The proposal to elect supervisors from supervisory districts which would be coincident with voting precincts eliminates all these difficulties. Ward lines would not be disturbed, there would be no increase in the number of aldermen, property descriptions would not be molested and there would be flexibility which would enable a city to increase its representation as its population grew.

There can be no logical opposition to this action from rural residents, because urban voters are merely trying to get what has long been their due—that is proportional representation in the operation of county affairs. They are seeking only as much power as their voting strength entitles them to.

Assemblyman-elect Catlin has been asked to introduce this measure to the legislature at the session opening next week, and already he has been assured support from a number of Wisconsin cities. Because of the obvious fairness of the proposal it should be adopted by the legislature without a great deal of discussion.

VOTES AND MONEY

Since the figures concerning the savings deposits in the banks and trust companies of this country have been recently published one may possibly find a clue to the stout way in which the New England states cracked down upon the Roosevelt regime. They told us after Maine and Vermont voted for Governor Landon, and the other New England states came as close to giving him their votes as possible, that this was because they had a better understanding of the American form of government in New England, more of the blood that came over in the Mayflower and fought at Concord and Saratoga.

But the condition of savings deposits, we are just cynical enough to opine, had something to do with the matter.

For the people of the New England states have more money per person in savings accounts than in any other section in America.

And the gap between the savings in New England and other sections of the country is a wide one, an important one. There will be found in the savings accounts in New England's banks $515 for every man, woman and child within those states. That is a nice fat average. And the owners of those accounts fail to see the charm of Mr. Roosevelt's policies when their interest rates are knocked in two while their personal taxes are being doubled. Out here in Wisconsin our average is only $133 per person, while down in Mississippi it is but $30, in Arkansas but $21 and South Carolina, the rose of democracy, $15.

The more we go through the savings deposits in this country the more we begin to understand the votes in the last election.

THE CAT IS BACK ON THE FRONT STEPS

And now it is the Interstate Commerce Commission, the ruler of our carriers, which denounces in unmeasured terms the tax upon the undistributed surplus of corporations.

But the Commission goes further than a mere denunciation. It details the clashes and the wreckage from the plan. Moreover it points out how the tax on undistributed corporate profits runs directly counter to the earlier announced policy of the same administration that railroads must create sinking funds out of which to pay their bond issues that their heavy indebtedness might be gradually reduced to a more conservative figure.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, loaded with liberals of every hue, started out to obey the President's demand that railroads must pay their debts and then found that on a dark and stormy night Mr. Roosevelt, up in the switchtower, threw the wrong lever just as they were coming down the home stretch and smashed them into a freight train on a well loaded siding.

For the Interstate Commerce Commission has presided at all reorganization plans of the eighteen railroads that have already been brought through bankruptcy and in each instance, at the behest of the President, it has insisted upon diverting the profits to paying the debts, and now it finds this will mean an enormous sacrifice.

In its detailed report the commission cites the case of our own Chicago and North Western Railroad. The reorganization plan of that road called for an appropriation of $1,000,000 a year for ten years out of earnings to be used for the retirement of bond issues. The commission continues:

"To provide a sinking fund of a million dollars a year, as contemplated in the plan of the Chicago and North Western Railway Company, would require a net income of approximately $1,478,470, of which about $257,860 would be required for this surtax, which would be avoided if the sinking fund were not required and the net income remaining after the payment of normal taxes, in this case, about $220,610, were distributed as dividends."

The net result of the above statement is that if the North Western road should make a million dollars and then pay it on its debts it would have to pay in addition a tax of over 25 per cent on that amount. And this in addition to its already crushing state taxes and its already heavy income taxes. Of course this is absurdity made more absurd.

But the Interstate Commerce Commission isn't the only one that has drawn careful plans upon the assumption that a ruler's deliberate word might be expected to last more than a few months. Nor should the commission take things too seriously. Although insisting upon such an arrangement for the railroads it has put their head on the block so to speak by forcing them to pay this enormous tax, a tax that would have to be paid too, were they to use the money even for the purpose of buying new equipment.

The commission is unhappy. It sees no chance to keep railroads solvent if their meager earnings are thus absorbed by a hungry government with an insatiable thirst. Reading the commission's report is rather convincing that they took Mr. Roosevelt too seriously. They overlook the fact that the law for taxation of undistributed profits was passed in an election year and now may be safely amended since its purpose of seeming to provide Happy Days has been accomplished.

A SIMPLE WAY TO COLLECT

It has remained for members of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce to suggest a plan for the settling of war debts that is so simple the average man can understand it.

It is proposed that foreign governments issue certificates with a face value amounting to their individual annual debt payments, turning these certificates over to the United States treasury department which, in turn, would arrange for their sale at a discount to persons going abroad.

The money paid for them by tourists before going abroad would be applied toward the retirement of United States government bonds. Once abroad, the tourist would exchange his certificate for the currencies of the debtor countries he visits.

If the plan has weaknesses, they are not apparent at first glance. The plan is, at least, understandable. It is not wrapped up in the terminology of international finance.

Recent months have witnessed a great increase in the bidding of European nations for American tourist business, in advertising placed by foreign resorts and by the steamship lines. One of the surer indications of returning prosperity is the gain in tourist travel.

All this is proper and encouraging. Europeans are frankly bidding for American tourist dollars. A measure of the good faith of debtor nations will be their reactions to a suggestion which at least has the virtue of simplicity to recommend it.

TEMPEST AT MADISON
If the lowering storm around the head of Dr. Glenn Frank actually breaks, it will not be the first case of its kind in the Western country. Debates over academic freedom involving presidents of a university are naturally rarer than quarrels about more professors. In what we may call our own times, East and West have each one cause celebre. In this part of the country there is the case of President McKeiljohn at Amherst in 1924. In the trans-Mississippi there is the case of President Suzzalo at the University of Washington two years later. One would say offhand that academic freedom, like ordinary freedom, ought to ring from

I WONDER, TOO

Jonah:

Why is it:

That Appleton's street lights never fail to go out on the darkest nights.

That one never fails to receive wierd specimens of handkerchiefs at Christmas.

That the after you take your umbrella home from your place of employment, it rains pitch-forks and hammer-handles.

That people beautify themselves by draping hideously plaided scarves around their heads.

That the one day you wish solitude, everyone you meet desires otherwise.

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

CHRONIC CARBON MONOXIDE ANOXIA

As mentioned earlier, carbon monoxide itself is colorless or invisible, odorless, tasteless and wholly non-irritating. It is indeed stealthy death. Carbon monoxide itself is not at all poisonous and works no injury to the body tissues or cells. It simply combines with the hemoglobin in the blood, for which it has an affinity as strong as the affinity of oxygen, and so crowds oxygen out or prevents the blood from carrying the oxygen to the body tissues and cells require. So that any degree of carbon monoxide asphyxia or injury, from the vague symptoms caused by frequent exposure to atmosphere only slightly polluted to the direct gassing, is due to no poisoning but solely to anoxia, lack of or a deficit of oxygen in the tissues, or anoxemia, a deficit of oxygen in the blood.

If we seem to dwell with much insistence on this subject it is because the laity in general, and perhaps many physicians, are not sufficiently well informed upon the effects of chronic carbon monoxide anoxia. Today this health impairment is extremely frequent. The complaints of victims are too often ascribed to such threadbare and absurd causes as "nerves," "indigestion," "bad liver," "eyestrain," "overwork," "neurosis"—which are nearly always dishonest diagnoses or suggestions of the nostrum vendor.

Not only mechanics but any one whose occupation or business requires him or her to live for hours in the atmosphere of a poorly ventilated garage daily; furnace men as well as houseworkers who are for hours daily in basements where faulty burners pollute the air; traffic police on duty at busy corners where high buildings, and new vendors and others who live for hours daily in the street atmosphere polluted with the exhaust from traffic; linotype operators and others working in shops where type metal is melted in open kettles and adequate exhaust ventilation is not provided; housebound persons living in apartments heated by flueless heating appliances (any kind that burns fuel); housewives or cooks who spend hours daily working in kitchens where no stove pipe connection to the chimney or open fire, or roomers who use pipeless gas heaters to warm up a small bedroom or a bathroom; laundry workers or garment workers in shops where gas irons are used for pressing or ironing and the proprietor fails to provide adequate exhaust ventilation to protect the health and life of the employee; these are only a few of the special classes subject to chronic carbon monoxide anoxia.

No combination of symptoms (headache, weakness, confusion, dizziness, nausea, excessive fatigue from little work, and perhaps odd mental disturbances or irrational behavior) warrant a diagnosis of chronic CO anoxia. A positive diagnosis can be made only when a blood test proves the presence of CO (carbon monoxide). To be accurate the test must be made shortly after a tour of work, otherwise the CO will have blown off or cleared out the blood in the course of several hours—but the damage done by the anoxia may persist a long while.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Bleeding
Should a woman aged 28 years who is subject to varicose veins above and below the knees and has frequent attacks of bleeding piles undertake marriage with a man who is 38 and has two young children by a former wife? (Mrs. W. F.)
Answer—First she should have the varicose veins obliterated by injection treatment and the piles (which are varicose veins) treated either by the injection treatment or by whatever surgical method may be necessary to stop the frequent bleeding. Such bleeding insidiously undermines health. The woman owes it to herself and to her husband and any children she may mother, to keep in the best possible physical condition.
Loose Cartilage
The cartilages in both of my knees slip out of place—it has happened twice in the past nine months. Mr. Told operation is the only remedy. Knees crack and snap when I bend down. Age 28. Would working in garage on cold concrete floors have anything to do with it? (F. J. S.)
Answer—Cold floors have nothing to do with it. Usually some past strain or sprain is responsible for torn or loosened cartilage, internal derangement. Firm strapping with overlapping one-inch wide strips of adhesive plaster around front and sides (not back) of knee from a few inches below to a few inches above knee-cap, once a week, may prevent the slipping. Only permanent cure is surgical anchoring or removal of loose body.

"CAPRICORN"
If January 10 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:10 a. m. to 12:10 p. m., from 4:10 to 6:10 p. m. and from 8:10 to 10:10 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:10 to 11:10 a. m. from 6:10 to 8:10 p. m. and from 10:10 p. m. until midnight.

Some very good, as well as extremely bad suggestions, will be made this day. Discrimination must be exercised in deciding the ages right and wrong. If on this day you "be wisely worldly, be not worldly wise," you will show good judgment. This is a good day to use brains, rather than brawn for entertainment purposes. Be sure your requests are sensible, for silly ones are not apt to be entertained. Try to avoid placing too much restraint upon children's activities because discordant conditions are likely to originate from too much discipline. In your social activities do not be responsible for any argument. Married and engaged couples, as well as those intensely in love, must not cast dignity to the four winds this day, if they do not wish to suffer a severe rebuke.

If a woman and January 10 is your birthday, beware of conceit. It is one of the weaknesses of many born on this date. Inquisitiveness is another trouble maker, that must be suppressed. You will be loyal to those who love and trust you, and find happiness in doing your duty. You ought to have a great amount of self-restraint and good Western may come through inheritance; marriage or your own clever work. As an actress, radio broadcaster, educator, musician, journalist or broker you may have many opportunities to gain an enviable reputation. You are apt to win happiness, as well as freedom from financial responsibilities, through marriage.

The child born on January 10, usually develops, during its early teens, a vast amount of personal charm. Its outstanding characteristics probably will be a cheerful disposition, unselfishness, politeness and an abundance of courage.

If a man and January 10 is your natal day, if you have lofty aspirations and sufficient perseverance you ought to win high esteem and social position. Promoting, banking, writing, composing, inventing, painting or some commercial activity are mediums through which success may come to you.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Two of the outstanding failures of the first administration of President Roosevelt were his inability to obtain ratification of the world court protocol and the St. Lawrence treaty.

He came into office committed to both, put them both before the senate, saw them debated with some prospect of passage, and saw them finally fail.

Now that he has a majority in the senate even more preponderant than before, with his prestige heightened by tremendous victory it is not surprising to hear talk that he may try again to put them through. But this can be ventured—while only count senate noses far more closely than last time before he takes the step.

Swayed By Home Folks
Party lines seem not to govern either of these affairs. Senators who would like to vote with the President out of party loyalty are forced to take votes from back home sometimes even stronger. Such voices have brought defeat to both treaties.

For ratification of treaties, a two-thirds vote of the senate is required. The St. Lawrence treaty in 1934 received 46 votes for it to 42 against, but that was not two-thirds. The world court in 1935 came even closer, 52 to 36, yet also falling short of two-thirds.

If there has been any change in late sentiment on the St. Lawrence waterway and power treaty it has not been sensed by congress members interested in it. Part of upstate New York wanted the cheap power it offered. New York City as a seaport opposed it, fearful of opening a channel to sea-going vessels up the St. Lawrence into the great lakes. Both New York senators fought it.

Certain Mississippi river states, especially Illinois, assailed the treaty while other lake states were for it. Illinois senators charged that the treaty signed away control over Lake Michigan. Illinois long has contended for a greater outflow from Lake Michigan for two purposes, to carry Chicago sewage into the Mississippi, and to provide better navigation between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi.

There was the split. Treaty supporters objected to draining Lake Michigan water into the Mississippi. Instead they wanted the water to continue, as now, to run out into the St. Lawrence where it could develop power for Canada, New York and New England and perhaps provide a new power "yard-stick."

Uncertain What's Coming
As so many world court votes were counted many times in 1935 before it came to a vote, and even Minority Leader McNary conceded the senate would vote for adherence. But it was defeated.

Since then many developments in Europe have tempered congressional enthusiasm about court or league alliances with Europe, even with such reservations as were contained in the court proposal. . . . Old timers still talk about the confusion that reigned that night.

One-Act Play Contest Postponed at Marion

Marion—The high school one-act play contest, scheduled for Jan. 12 has been postponed. The play chosen for the contest this year was "Light" and was rejected by the high school forensic association because another high school in this conference had decided to use this play. Three casts, comprising 15 students had already spent some time in practicing. Another play has been chosen and will be given at a later date.

The skat club met with Herman Spiegel Wednesday evening. Russell Edwards held high. Harvey Meyer, second, Karl Miller, third, and Henry Bowers, Jr., fourth. Dan Wulke will be host to the club next Thursday evening.

Stockholders of the First National bank and the village hall Monday evening. The annual report will be read and the election of directors will take place.

A short course in agriculture for boys under 20 years of age who have not attended high school will be held in the agricultural rooms each Saturday afternoon. Practical farm problems will be discussed and movies will be used to explain the new practices. This course is offered free by the board of education to any farm boy in this vicinity. A certificate will be awarded to the boys who complete the course.

William Bertram post auxiliary held its first meeting of the year Wednesday evening at the village hall. Twenty members were present. Mrs. Anna Pickett was initiated in the order. A report of the Christmas party given for the Junior auxiliary, showed there were 17 members present and two of the juniors, who were ill, were remembered. The auxiliary also planned a public card party to be held in the village hall Wednesday evening, Jan. 13. Bingo was played after the business meeting.

Miss Eleanor Dräger, formerly Miss Eleanor Spiegel, was surprised at a post-nuptial shower at her home Saturday evening. The evening was spent socially, after which refreshments were served. Mrs. Dräger was presented with a gift by the girls.

Mrs. E. R. Garrett, who has spent the last month in Milwaukee, returned to her home Tuesday evening.

The Guild of the Methodist church will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. P. C. Rogers Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 13.

MORE SUPERVISORS FROM CITIES
Comment around the state indicates that considerable interest has been aroused in the effort initiated here to make it possible for cities like Appleton to obtain larger representation on their county boards of supervisors. Not less than a dozen cities in Wisconsin are dissatisfied with their county board representation, so far as numbers are concerned, but are loathe to apply the remedy which the law presently provides, because they feel that the evils thereby created would be worse than the benefits derived.

Taxpayers and voters in many Wisconsin cities are at a distinct disadvantage in the operation of county affairs because the law as now written makes it extremely difficult to increase the number of city representatives on county boards. The only way it now can be done is to increase the number of wards, which would also increase the number of aldermen on the city councils and, what is worse, would raise havoc with thousands of property descriptions that are based on ward lines. But in spite of these difficulties, several cities recently have increased the number of wards in order to get more supervisors.

For Appleton to have proportional representation on the Outagamie county board it should elect at least 45 per cent of the total number of supervisors. That would mean from 24 to 26 supervisors from the city, and in order to obtain that number it would be necessary to have from 24 to 26 wards, with from 48 to 52 aldermen. It must be obvious that this would create a condition worse than the one it seeks to remedy.

The proposal to elect supervisors from supervisory districts which would be coincident with voting precincts eliminates all these difficulties. Ward lines would not be disturbed, there would be no increase in the number of aldermen, property descriptions would not be molested and there would be flexibility which would enable a city to increase its representation as its population grew.

There can be no logical opposition to this action from rural residents, because urban voters are merely trying to get what has long been their due—that is proportional representation in the operation of county affairs. They are seeking only as much power as their voting strength entitles them too.

Assemblyman-elect Catlin has been asked to introduce this measure to the legislature at the session opening next week, and already he has been assured support from a number of Wisconsin cities. Because of the obvious fairness of the proposal it should be adopted by the legislature without a great deal of discussion.

VOICES AND MONEY

Since the figures concerning the savings deposits in the banks and trust companies of this country have been recently published one may possibly find a clue to the stout way in which the New England states cracked down upon the Roosevelt regime. They told us after Maine and Vermont voted for Governor Landon, and the other New England states came as close to giving him their votes as possible, that this was because they had a better understanding of the American form of government in New England, more of the blood that came over in the Mayflower and fought at Concord and Saratoga.

But the condition of savings deposits, we are just cynical enough to opine, had something to do with the matter.

For the people of the New England states have more money per person in savings accounts than in any other section in America.

And the gap between the savings in New England and other sections of the country is a wide one, an important one. There will be found in the savings accounts in New England's banks $515 for every man, woman and child within those states. That is a nice fat average. And the owners of those accounts fail to see the charm of Mr. Roosevelt's policies when their interest rates are knocked in two while their personal taxes are being doubled. Out here in Wisconsin our average is only $133 per person, while down in Mississippi it is but $30, in Arkansas but $21 and South Carolina, the rose of democracy, $15.

The more we go through the savings deposits in this country the more we begin to understand the votes in the last election.

THE CAT IS BACK ON THE FRONT STEPS

And now it is the Interstate Commerce Commission, the ruler of our carriers, which denounces in unmeasured terms the tax upon the undistributed surplus of corporations.

But the Commission goes further than a mere denunciation. It details the clashes and the wreckage from the plan. Moreover it points out how the tax on undistributed corporate profits runs directly counter to the earlier announced policy of the same administration that railroads must create sinking funds out of which to pay their bond issues that their heavy indebtedness might be gradually reduced to a more conservative figure.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, loaded with liberals of every hue, started out to obey the President's demand that railroads must pay their debts and then found that on a dark and stormy night Mr. Roosevelt, up in the switchtower, threw the wrong lever just as they were coming down the home stretch and smashed them into a freight train on a well loaded siding.

For the Interstate Commerce Commission has presided at all reorganization plans of the eighteen railroads that have already been brought through bankruptcy and in each instance, at the behest of the President, it has insisted upon diverting the profits to paying the debts, and now it finds this will mean an enormous sacrifice.

In its detailed report the commission cites the case of our own Chicago and North Western Railroad. The reorganization plan of that road called for an appropriation of $1,000,000 a year for ten years out of earnings to be used for the retirement of bond issues. The commission continues:

"To provide a sinking fund of a million dollars a year, as contemplated in the plan of the Chicago and North Western Railway Company, would require a net income of approximately $1,478,470, of which about $257,860 would be required for this surtax, which would be avoided if the sinking fund were not required and the net income remaining after the payment of normal taxes, in this case, about $220,610, were distributed as dividends."

The net result of the above statement is that if the North Western road should make a million dollars and then pay it on its debts it would have to pay in addition a tax of over 25 per cent on that amount. And this in addition to its already crushing state taxes and its already heavy income taxes. Of course this is absurdity made more absurd.

But the Interstate Commerce Commission isn't the only one that has drawn careful plans upon the assumption that a ruler's deliberate word might be expected to last more than a few months. Nor should the commission take things too seriously. Although insisting upon such an arrangement for the railroads it has put their head on the block so to speak by forcing them to pay this enormous tax, a tax that would have to be paid too, were they to use the money even for the purpose of buying new equipment.

The commission is unhappy. It sees no chance to keep railroads solvent if their meager earnings are thus absorbed by a hungry government with an insatiable thirst. Reading the commission's report is rather convincing that they took Mr. Roosevelt too seriously. They overlook the fact that the law for taxation of undistributed profits was passed in an election year and now may be safely amended since its purpose of seeming to provide Happy Days has been accomplished.

A SIMPLE WAY TO COLLECT

It has remained for members of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce to suggest a plan for the settling of war debts that is so simple the average man can understand it.

It is proposed that foreign governments issue certificates with a face value amounting to their individual annual debt payments, turning these certificates over to the United States treasury department which, in turn, would arrange for their sale at a discount to persons going abroad.

The money paid for them by tourists before going abroad would be applied toward the retirement of United States government bonds. Once abroad, the tourist would exchange his certificate for the currencies of the debtor countries he visits.

If the plan has weaknesses, they are not apparent at first glance. The plan is, at least, understandable. It is not wrapped up in the terminology of international finance.

Recent months have witnessed a great increase in the bidding of European nations for American tourist business, in advertising placed by foreign resorts and by the steamship lines. One of the surer indications of returning prosperity is the gain in tourist travel.

All this is proper and encouraging. Europeans are frankly bidding for American tourist dollars. A measure of the good faith of debtor nations will be their reactions to a suggestion which at least has the virtue of simplicity to recommend it.

TEMPEST AT MADISON

If the lowering storm around the head of Dr. Glenn Frank actually breaks, it will not be the first case of its kind in the Western country. Debates over academic freedom involving presidents of a university are naturally rarer than quarrels about mere professors. In what we may call our own times, East and West have each one cause celebre. In this part of the country there is the case of President McKeljohn at Amherst in 1924. In the trans-Mississippi there is the case of President Suzzalo at the University of Washington two years later.

One would say offhand that academic freedom, like ordinary freedom, ought to ring from

Jonah:

Why is it:

That Appleton's street lights never fail to go out on the darkest nights.

That one never fails to receive wierd specimens of handkerchiefs at Christmas.

That the after you take your umbrella home from your place of employment, it rains pitch-forks and hammer-handles.

That people beautify themselves by draping hideously plaided scarves around their heads.

That the one day you wish solitude, everyone you meet desires otherwise.

That people in the cinema insist on bringing candy, popcorn, karmelcorn, in cellophane bags.

That the only time in your life you wish to appear dignified and settled, you hit the only uncondemned icy sidewalk in the block and fall down amid much laughter.

THE ONE DESIRABLE SIT-DOWN STRIKE

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.

CHRONIC CARBON MONOXIDE ANOXIA

As mentioned earlier, carbon monoxide itself is colorless or invisible, odorless, tasteless and wholly non-irritating. It is indeed stealthy death. Carbon monoxide itself is not at all poisonous and works no injury to the body tissues or cells. It simply combines with the hemoglobin in the blood, for which it has an affinity as strong as the affinity of oxygen, and so crowds oxygen out or prevents the blood from carrying the oxygen the body tissues and cells require. So that any degree of carbon monoxide asphyxia or injury, from the vague symptoms caused by frequent exposure to atmosphere only slightly polluted to the direct gassing is due to no poisoning but solely to anoxia, lack of or a deficit of oxygen in the tissues, or anoxemia, a deficit of oxygen in the blood.

If we seem to dwell with much insistence on this subject it is because the laity in general, and perhaps many physicians, are not sufficiently well informed upon the effects of chronic carbon monoxide anoxia. Today this health impairment is extremely frequent. The complaints of victims are too often ascribed to such threadbare and absurd causes as "nerves," "indigestion," "bad liver," "eyestrain," "overwork," "acidosis"—which are nearly always dishonest diagnoses or suggestions of the nostrum vendor.

Not only mechanics but any one whose occupation or business requires him or her to live for hours in the atmosphere of a poorly ventilated garage daily, furnace men as well as houseworkers who are for hours daily in basements where faulty burners pollute the air; traffic police on duty at busy corners between high buildings, and news vendors and others who live for hours daily in the street atmosphere polluted with the exhaust from traffic; linotype operators and others working in shops where type metal is melted in open kettles and adequate exhaust ventilation is not provided; housebound persons living in apartments heated by fuel-less heating appliances (any kind that burns fuel); housewives or cooks who spend hours daily working in kitchens where no stove pipe connection to the chimney or open air is used on the range or gas heaters to warm up a small bedroom or a bathroom; laundry workers or garment workers in shops where gas irons are used for pressing or ironing and the proprietor fails to provide adequate exhaust ventilation to protect the health and life of the employee; these are only a few of the special classes subject to chronic carbon monoxide anoxia.

No combination of symptoms (dizziness, weakness, confusion, headache, nausea, excessive fatigue from little work, and perhaps odd mental disturbances or irrational behavior) warrant a diagnosis of chronic CO anoxia. A positive diagnosis can be made only when a blood test proves the presence of CO (carbon monoxide). To be accurate the test must be made shortly after a tour of work, otherwise the CO will have blown off or cleared out the blood in the course of several hours—but the damage done by the anoxia may persist a long while.

Should a woman aged 28 years who is subject to varicose veins above and below the knees and has frequent attacks of bleeding piles understate marriage with a man who is 38 and has two young children by a former wife? . . . (Mrs. W. F.)

Answer—First she should have the varicose veins obliterated by injection treatment and the piles (which are varicose veins) treated either by the injection treatment or by whatever surgical method may be necessary to stop the frequent bleeding. Such bleeding insidiously undermines health. The woman owes it to herself and to her husband and any children she may mother, to keep in the best possible physical condition.

Loose Cartilage
The cartilages in both of my knees slip out of place—it has happened twice in the past nine months. M. Told operation is the only remedy. Knees crack and snap when I bend down. Age 28. Would working in garage on cold concrete floors have anything to do with it? . . . (F. J. S.)

Answer—Cold floors have nothing to do with it. Usually some past strain or sprain is responsible for torn or loosened cartilage, internal derangement. Firm strapping with overlapping one-inch wide strips of adhesive plaster around front and sides (not back) of knee from a few inches below to a few inches above knee-cap, once a week, may prevent the slipping. Only permanent cure is surgical anchoring or removal of loose body.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER
Washington—Two of the outstanding failures of the first administration of President Roosevelt were his inability to obtain ratification of the world court protocol and the St. Lawrence treaty.

He came into office committed to both, put them both before the senate, saw them debated with some prospect of passage, and saw them finally fail.

Now that he has a majority in the senate even more preponderant than before, with his prestige heightened by tremendous victory it is not surprising to hear that he may try again to put them through. But this can be ventured—he will count senate noses far more closely than last time before he takes the step.

Party lines seem not to govern either of these affairs. Senators who would like to vote with the President out of party loyalty are forced to heed voices from back home sometimes even stronger. Such voices have brought defeat to both treaties.

For ratification of treaties, a two-thirds vote of the senate is required. The St. Lawrence treaty in 1934 received 46 votes for it to 42 against, but that was not two-thirds. The world court in 1935 came even closer, 52 to 36, yet also falling short of two-thirds.

Uncertain What's Coming
As to the world court, noses were counted many times in 1935 before it came to a vote, and even Minority Leader McNary conceded the senate would vote for adherence. But it was defeated.

Since then many developments in Europe have tempered congressional enthusiasm about court or league alliances with Europe, even with such reservations as were contained in the court proposal.

Usually well-informed congressional sources doubt if the world court will be submitted again this session, but are far from certain what the President has in mind with regard to the St. Lawrence.

One-Act Play Contest Postponed at Marion

Marion—The high school one-act play contest, scheduled for Jan. 12 has been postponed. The play chosen for the contest this year was "Light" and was rejected by the high school forensics association because another high school in this conference had decided to use this play. Three casts, comprising 15 students had already spent some time in practicing. Another play has been chosen and will be given at a later date.

The skat club met with Herman Spiegel Wednesday evening. Harvey Meyer, second, Karl Miller, third and Henry Bowers, Jr., fourth. Dan Wulke will be host to the club next Thursday evening.

The auxiliary also planned a public card party to be held in the village hall Wednesday evening, Jan. 13. Bingo was played after the business meeting.

Bidding Should Have Given Clew to Proper Lead Here

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Some bidding sequences require expert interpretation. Others bear so plain an implication that every average player should be able to draw cogent conclusions. These conclusions are particularly vital to the defender who must select the opening lead. If the opponents' bids have been accurate it is not difficult to visualize the probable line of play that will ensue. Obviously the lead must be designed to break up that line. Consider today's hand.

North dealer. Consider today's hand. Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 7	♥ 10 5 4 3	♦ None	♣ K 8 5 4 2
WEST
♠ 5 4 2	♥ A 7 6 2	♦ Q 10 9	♣ A 8
EAST
♠ K 10 9 3	♥ None	♦ A 8 4 3	♣ A J 10 7 3
SOUTH
♠ A Q 6	♥ K Q 9 8	♦ K 7 6 5 2	♣ K

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 club	1 heart	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

West decided that with four trumps his best plan was to open a suit that might develop forces on the declarer. He laid down the queen of diamonds. It proved to be an unfortunate choice. Dummy ruffed, and the spade finesse was taken successfully. A second diamond was ruffed, and declarer entered his hand with the ace of spades to ruff a third diamond. Next a low club was led from dummy and East cannot be blamed for ducking to this trick. He had no trump to return in order to stop the crossruff and, for all he knew, the declarer might be blank in clubs. Certainly he could not tell that his partner had failed to lead clubs when holding a singleton. Declarer's queen won and a fourth diamond was followed, dropping the ace and establishing declarer's king. A low club now was ruffed by declarer and overruffed by West, who then belatedly led a trump. Declarer overtook dummy's jack, drew West's trumps, cashed the diamond king, and conceded the low spade as the defenders' second and final trick.

I agree with West that his singleton club opening would not have been a good lead, but I most certainly do not agree in his preference for a diamond North's jump to four hearts, considering that he had passed originally, was patently based on extraordinary distribution and, in this case, since West himself had excellent diamonds and some spade strength, the probabilities were enormous that that distribution meant ruffing power rather than merely good trump support and a semi-solid side suit.

The best lead on West's hand would have been the ace and another trump. He should have foreseen, from the bidding alone, that it was extremely unlikely that his partner, East, would have even one trump, and, therefore, it would devolve upon West, as the opening leader, to stop the ruff. With two leads of trumps from West the four heart contract would have been doomed to defeat.

Coats Replace Frocks

House coats are a novelty recently launched for the house-wife who wants something different from the regulation house frock. They may be either street length or floor length and are very inexpensive. This one, made of corded cotton, is patterned in gay multicolored Persian figures, fitted trimly at the waistline and buttoned down the front. Pleats at the sleeve top give shoulder width.

Uncle Ray's Corner

A Little Saturday Talk

A month or so ago I wrote several stories about coal, and in one of them I told the names of some of the world's leading coal-producing nations. The list was based on the average over a period of years, and in it I did not include the name of Russia.

A reader has written to ask about Russia's rank in coal production, so I shall speak of it today. Until the last few years, Russia has ranked far behind some other nations, but the late figures have shown big gains.

If we take late figures for a single year, the rank of the nations remain almost the same as the average over a period of years—except for Russia. Russia has risen from seventh place to fourth place, with only the United States, Great Britain and Germany ahead of her. France, Poland and other countries have been left behind. The Russian coal output has more than doubled in the past five years. Russia has made even greater gains in the iron and steel industry. In the last six years her iron and steel production has increased to about three times what it was at the beginning of that period. The United States still ranks first in this field, but Russia and Germany are running a hard race for second place, with Great Britain a strong fourth.

Are you saving the stories we are having about China? There will be more of them next week, and if you save them all you will have a short history of that old, old nation. It is not easy to obtain historical facts about China. Chinese histories are likely to be filled with names of kings and

In-Between Child Needs Good Word and Assistance

BY ANGELO PATRISI

A teacher knows that out of the fifty children who enter the first grade only a few will be graduated from college. A great host fall out between that first grade and the last class in the higher school. The higher they go the fewer their numbers until at last one stands alone on the heights and we have a master.

The great number of parents covet that high, lone place for their own children, each for his own. Some of them are keenly disappointed when their son or daughter does not reach that honorable place, and they allow themselves to reproach the child. Nothing could be more futile, more senseless, than that attitude.

In each class, of whatever sort or grade, there can be drawn a curve of achievement. At one end there will be a few that must stay on the first level, at the other end, a few that will rise very high. In the middle they collect in a tight group, very close together. Only the scattered ones at each end break the steady rhythm of this group. They are the common children of the common class, and to my teacherly mind, greatly to be cherished.

Out of the lowest group one may rise, but he will not rise far and his services to the community will not count for much. Out of the highest group there may come a leader, and his services may be valuable to the community. The odds are in his favor. But, in that great middle group there are workers who will sustain the nation, workers who will carry the burden of trial and endure life's hardships triumphantly and rear healthy children to carry on after them. And leaders will not be wanting in that group when

Housewives Should Use Hand Lotion

BY ELSIE PIERCE

Hand Care for the Busy Housewife

Mrs. C. K. writes: The suggestion that we busy, houseworking women use hand lotion every time our hands are emerged in water is no idle propaganda calculated to sell more of the manufacturer's wares. Every winter my hands turn to sandpaper, they get so chapped and rough that they are actually painful, besides being painful to look at. For Christmas two of my well-meaning friends gave me hand lotion in a handy dispenser. It didn't flatter my ego, but I knew they meant well. One dispenser was fastened above my kitchen faucet, another above the bathroom washstand. I've used the lotion religiously since and in the short week the soothing, softening influence has been amazing. Now that I'm beauty conscious about my hands, please send me your hand bulletins including manicuring instructions. Self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope enclosed.

Exercise for Spot Reducing

N. B.'s problem is. Overweight about her hips, but neck is very scrawny and wrinkled and face too thin. She tries to diet the neck and face, but the only places to show the difference, she has decided to diet but must do something about face and neck. "I look sixty years old sometimes!"

Exercise is the best way to combat overdeveloped hips. My bulletin in "Six Little Hip Exercises" would be of interest, I am sure. Please send self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope for it. Massage is helpful also. For the face and neck plenty of creaming with a good rich emollient cream. Mold upward from base of neck up to the temples. Allow the cream to remain as long as possible. Mixing the cream with a little warm wrinkle oil may be helpful. Directly over the cream pat with a mild astringent and wear a chin strap for a half hour a few times a week while reading, resting or sewing. Do some chin and neck exercises. Also wear round collars, soft lingerie touches about the throat to make the neck seem less scrawny and apply the rouge on cheeks, quite high and outward toward the temples to make the face look wider.

On the Use of Ice on the Skin

E. A. W. wants to know whether I approve the use of ice on the skin. . . . so many authorities do not. Except in case of the extremely sensitive skin or if there are little broken veins or if the skin is very thin and transparent I feel that ice is splendid to keep the skin toned and close the pores. However, I do not recommend applying the ice directly to the skin. It should be wrapped in a handkerchief, thin gauze or linen and rubbed over the skin very gently.

Community Life Plan Is Practicable, Dix Thinks

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix—We are a group of ten college people who hold the same interests in life, are of the same social status and faith and find complete enjoyment in one another's company, so we are thinking of trying out the plan of community living. We believe this to be the modern answer to the social problem of young people who desire to marry and cannot afford to do so. By community living, we mean five couples sharing the same living quarters, but with a great degree of privacy. Each couple contributing to the general fund, which would pay the rent, food and incidentals. Would you think this at all possible or advisable if each man earned at least $25 a week?

THE A. C. A's

Answer: There is no plan that works out so well on paper as community living. Taking your case as an example, you can easily prove that five married couples can rent one house that would hold them all for much less money than they could set up five independent households. Many of the overhead expenses are the same for one family or for five, and with five able-bodied women to divide the housework among themselves the domestic service problem would be eliminated, with no one overtaxed.

Nothing is such an extravagance as individual housekeeping. For many years I lived in a large apartment building that housed ninety-seven families, and I often thought of how wasteful it was for ninety-seven women to be ordering ninety-seven portions of food every morning and ninety-seven cooks to be cooking it, and the rent being paid on ninety-seven dining rooms in which to eat it when for the same expense we could have hired the finest chef in the city and dined like Lucullus, instead of eating plain fare made plainer by an inefficient servant.

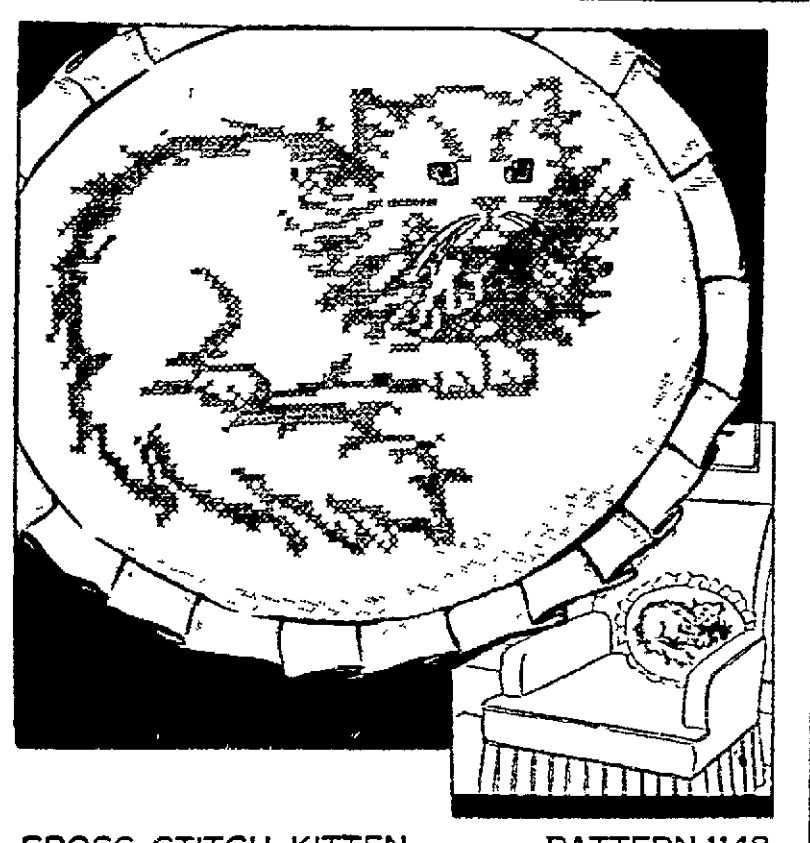

Undoubtedly community living is the answer to the high cost of living, and some day it is going to be the generally accepted mode of living for people of moderate means, just as living in apartment houses

KITTEN DESIGN FOR A PILLOW

CROSS STITCH KITTEN PATTERN 1148

"Purr" breathes the Angora kitten, curled up so cozily in your favorite chair. She'd be just as happy, and effective, gazing at you from behind a picture-frame, for this 6-to-the-inch cross stitch looks well either way. Here's a companion both Young and Old will love, whether Fussy is cross-stitched in angora yarn, wool, silk or cotton floss. Pattern 1148 contains a transfer pattern of a kitten 11 1/2 x 13 1/2 inches; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches used; color chart and key.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) for this pattern to the Appleton Post-Crescent, Needlecraft Dept., 62 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

restaurant. Have something to eat that you didn't cook for yourself.

And when you get home don't let your little squirt of courage fizzle out. Stiffen your backbone and refuse to let your husband and children slave you any longer. Make them lend a hand with the housework and take their turns at the kitchen stove. They will respect you more and love you the better for it.

Just remember that every woman writes her own price tag for her family and that they take her at her own valuation. If you make yourself a doormat for your husband and children to trample over, you can't blame them for doing it.

Dear Miss Dix—My daughter and I are all alone. I work very hard supporting her, and by skimping and scraping I have managed to keep up enough insurance to enable her to finish school and take a business course. The doctors tell me that I have only a short time to live. The girl is too young to take care of money. What arrangements can I make so she can have the money after I am gone?

WORRIED MOTHER.

Answer: Why not buy for your daughter an annuity in one of the good insurance companies that will pay her the money in monthly installments?

GOOD TASTE TODAY

DIPULSES OF KINDNESS

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been elected the chairman of a parents' organization of my child's school, and in this office have to write to the mothers of the children once a month. There is one little girl in school who has no mother. I believe she is living with a household of relatives, her father for the most part of the time being abroad. In this case, to whom shall I write? Wouldn't the child feel slighted if she had no one to represent her at the meetings?

Answer: Find out from her teacher the name of the person who signs the child's report cards in the father's absence and send your letter to her.

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently my little girl had a serious operation, which was a success, and she has regained her health almost completely. I give entire credit to the skill of the doctor who operated. We are people of little means and he arranged for us to pay the bill in small amounts, and at that he is being more than reasonable in the total fee. This doctor is a very important surgeon and I don't think that I can take his time to the office to thank him. Would it be all right for me to write him a note?

Answer: Write a very short note and tell him how deeply you appreciate all that he has done for your child, and also thank him for his consideration for your finances.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been visiting a friend who is an invalid and goes nowhere. The president of a club I belong to at home wrote, without my knowing about it, to the president of a similar club here, and asked her to do whatever she could for me during this visit. As a result this president invited me to dinner at the club and I had a most enjoyable evening. This was undoubtedly only a professional invitation and I don't know how to acknowledge it. I don't feel that I should presume upon the local woman's time to call and yet I feel that before going home I ought to do something. What would you suggest?

Answer: I would send her some flowers with a few words of appreciation written on my visiting card.

(Copyright, 1937)

is now. People will find that by pooling their resources they can have better houses, better food, better prepared, many more luxuries and comforts than they could possibly buy living alone.

One woman, for instance, might not be able to afford a nurse for a child, but half a dozen women clubbing together would hire a child specialist. The woman who has now to do her own scrubbing could save herself that labor if she had only to pay her share of the community cleaner. And so on through all the ramifications of household expenses.

The trouble so far with community living has been one of temperament and not finance. Jealous, selfishness and tempers have always wrecked the experiment. We have not learned how to live together, how to be just and fair, how to keep our fingers out of each others' pies, and how not to feel that we have a right to run our radios with the loud speaker on, but the people next door should be prohibited from having a cornet.

But in time we shall acquire the gentle art of being able to dwell under the same roof in peace and privacy, just as we have learned to live in apartments. There was a time when people said that couldn't be done, and that you couldn't put a household of women together without their being in a perpetual fight, but is now done so successfully that half the time you can live for years in an apartment house without knowing the names of people in the apartment whose door touches yours.

I see no reason why your plan is not practicable, and I think it is a fine idea for you young college people to be pioneers in community living. If anybody can make it work, you should.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been married for twenty years and am the mother of a large family. In all the long years of my married life I have stayed at home and slaved for my husband and family, while they went off and enjoyed themselves. I have fixed up hundreds of picnic lunches for them to take on their outings. I have made a billion sandwiches for their parties. Every holiday I have stood over the kitchen stove cooking big dinners for them to eat, until I was too tired to even touch the food I had cooked, or to go out anywhere, even if they had asked me, which they didn't. Now I am sick of it all. They are planning a big time and talking about what a feast they are going to have and are expecting me to cook it, but I'm going to fool them. When they start out on their frolic I am going to shut the kitchen door and go off on a frolic of my own for the first time in twenty years. Maybe I'll treat myself to a show.

LAWRENCE COLLEGE COEDS LIKE WINTER SPORTS

With snow on the ground at last after a green and rainy holiday season, skates and skis and toboggans have been brought out of corners and dusted again, and winter sports are taking the place of bridge parties and indoor recreation for most of the city's younger population. Among the group of young women who have donned snow suits and weelen socks these days are the four Lawrence college coeds above.

In the top picture, taking advantage of the snowy hills behind Russell Sage hall, are the Misses Ruth and Helen Bauer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bauer, Fremont. Both girls are juniors, members of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and society co-editors of the Lawrentian, college weekly. They are active in all athletics the college offers and are members of the Geneva committee.

Two Appleton girls rested on the steps of the dormitory after a skating excursion and posed for the bottom picture. They are Misses Florette Zuelke, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Zuelke, 1019 E. Eldorado street, and Miss Mary Lou Fannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Fannon, 1117 E. Eldorado street. Urges Valley Convention Of Men's Bible Classes Be Staged in Appleton URGING that a Fox River Valley convention of Men's Bible classes be held in Appleton next summer, Colonel Frank J. Schneller of Neenah told representatives of the bible classes of various local churches Friday night at the First Methodist Episcopal church that such an undertaking would prove a much needed inspiration to youth.

The statement was made during the course of a report on the convention of the National Federation of Men's Bible Classes, which Colonel Schneller attended last summer as Wisconsin's delegate. He had been asked by the Men's Bible classes of the Methodist and Congregational churches to give the report at a dinner meeting to which the different Bible classes of the city as well as all other interested persons were invited. About 70 persons attended the meeting.

"The changing conditions all about us have brought about a change in the functions of the church," Colonel Schneller declared. "The old adage 'Let George do it' is increasingly apparent. Everything is left to the pastor. And for a brief time on Sunday morning we expect the minister to raise us to the high religious fervor of our fathers and mothers."

Family devotions, he charged, are largely around for the bridge table; family prayers, for nickles, dimes and quarters.

"The church must accept the responsibility of extending its influence," he said, "and the solution is organized Men's Bible classes, working for cooperation between the churches. They testify to their faith by the Bible class. They accept the Bible, they don't try to prove it. They plead for a religion in which the divine representative of God, Jesus Christ, is the cornerstone."

He advocated that each Bible class be affiliated with the National Federation of Men's Bible Classes. The organization has no dues, he said, and but one collection a year.

Colonel Schneller then showed motion pictures he had taken of the Federation convention, which had been attended by about 5,000 men. He made a motion, which was accepted, that Charles C. Nelson be named temporary chairman of the Appleton Council of Men's Bible Classes.

As an interlude between the report on the Bible class convention and his showing of European travel films, Colonel Schneller showed motion pictures of Lawrence college scenes, including several of Dr. Henry M. Wriston and others of the football team in action last fall. George Nixon sang a solo, as did also Dorothy Ryan, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. W. S. Ryan.

Tribute was paid by C. C. Nelson, president of the Men's Bible class of the Methodist church, to O. P. Schaefer, pioneer Appleton business man who attended the meeting. He is rarely seen in public now, and his presence was acknowledged by the assemblage.

The second part of the program consisted of motion pictures taken by Colonel Schneller while he was in Europe last summer as a judge at the Olympic games and as a delegate to the Fidan Congress in Warsaw.

Peace Guarantee

He reiterated the statement he has made in previous lectures in this vicinity that the strength of Germany and her desire for peace will guarantee the peace of Europe for the next 10 years. Charging that war propaganda in the press today was closely allied to that which appeared before the World war, he declared that the world was far from war today.

Although he admitted that Germany had no freedom politically, he spoke highly of the country and its government's policies on all other points. He said again, as he has said previously, that he saw no armed soldier during four weeks in Germany, with the exception of a battalion drilling at the guard house. When he asked the officer in charge whether he could take pictures of the soldiers, he replied, "Take what you please. Germany has nothing to hide."

In addition to his pictures of the Olympic games, he showed scenes which he had taken in a number of European countries which he visited during the summer.

Chairman C. C. Nelson asked for an open forum discussion after Schneller's talk, but no one responded.

BETROTHED

Miss Gladys M. Shreve, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Schaefer, 121 N. Drew street, entertained a group of her schoolmates at dinner Friday evening at her home and is entertaining another group this evening. Her guests last evening included the following eighth grade girls of Roosevelt Junior High school: Barbara Rosch, Norma Crow, June Kuehlmstedt, Betty Kleitzel, Frances Wheeler, Jean Watson, Nancy McKee, Karlyn and Mary Lou Courtney, Pete Courtney, Doris Werner, Roxie Welch, Jayne Nixon, Marjorie Graff, Elaine and Miriam Carlson, Barbara Small, Ann Smith, Lois Whelan and Helen Fox. Miss Mary Christine Cox was chaperon. After the dinner the girls went to dancing class together.

The group which is being entertained today includes seventh grade girls of Roosevelt as follows: Shirley Foresman, Prescicia Raney, Mary Trezise, Marjorie Rogers, Marce Sylvester, Rosemary Schmitt, Bernice Saeberlich, Mary Lou Collins, Betty Stevens, Audrey Waltman, Ruth Stever, Grace Slatery, Virginia Traas, Shirley Palatnick and Patsy Thying.

Vosbeek, also of Green Bay, diocesan director of the Holy Name society, will be principal speakers at the annual banquets of two Holy Name societies of Appleton Sunday evening in their respective parish halls. Justice Martin will speak at the silver jubilee banquet of Holy Name society of St. Mary church at 5:30 Sunday evening at Columbia hall, and Father Vosbeek will address the St. Therese Holy Name group at its annual banquet at 5:30 Sunday evening at St. Therese hall.

Elaborate programs have been planned by the two groups in addition to the main addresses. Judge Thomas H. Ryan will be toastmaster at the St. Mary banquet and there will be a musical program. several boxing bouts by Boy Scouts of the parish. As tomorrow is the monthly communion Sunday for Holy Name men of the city, the men of the four Catholic churches will receive in a body at early masses in their respective churches. Following the 8 o'clock mass at St. Joseph's church at which the society will receive communion, a breakfast will be served in the parish hall. Installation of officers will take place and the pastor, the Rev. Cyprian Abler, O.M. Cap., will appoint several new officers. Sacred Heart Holy Name society will receive communion in a body at the 8:30 mass at the church, and officers of the organization will be installed at a meeting immediately after mass.

A Series of Lectures---

Carrying out the spirit of the Institute of Human Relations held in Appleton last summer, a series of lectures designed especially for non-Catholics will be held at St. Joseph hall beginning next Monday evening, Jan. 11, and continuing until March 22.

The purpose of these lectures, which will be given by thoroughly competent persons, is primarily to arouse a greater interest in spirituality and religion, and to seek a better understanding of religion in general and Catholicity in particular.

These lectures are in no sense a "mission" or an evangelistic campaign. They will not be exhortations of the "sawdust trail" type, but they will be scholarly discussions of religion and religious doctrines.

It is the hope of the Appleton Catholic Information Society, sponsor of these lectures, that they will be well attended by persons not of the Catholic faith but who are willing to learn something about religion and about Catholic doctrines and practices.

THERE WILL BE NO ADMISSION AND NO COLLECTION WILL BE TAKEN

You are earnestly invited to attend, and you also are invited to ask all the questions you desire.

The First of These Lectures Will Be Held at St. Joseph Hall, 325 W. Lawrence St. At 8 O'clock — Next Monday Evening, Jan. 11

And the Series Will Be Continued Each Monday Evening Until March 22

Schneider Asks Bay Harbor Improvement

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington — Green Bay harbor interests will be proposed before the board of rivers and harbors engineers of the war department at an early date by Representative George J. Schneider of Appleton.

Schneider said he hoped to appear before engineers next week to ask for a rehearing on a proposed survey for harbor improvements, which have been unfavorably reported by the board.

Work to be done at Green Bay, according to Schneider, includes cutting off shoulder ledges which jut out from the shore and deepening the channel so that local interests can make improvements along the shore. Estimated cost to the federal government would be between $400,000 and $500,000, Schneider said.

Wings For Sally

by BAILEY WOLFE

SYNOPSIS: Returning to his boyhood home, Philip Page buys the Warrenton Courier and leads the workers of the Morris mill in their fight for better homes. He admires Sally Warren, the attractive society editor who has been in love with Terry Maynard, boyish blond aviator. Sally breaks her engagement with Terry when she finds that he and her wilful younger sister are in love. A whirlwind of parties precedes the marriage of Tip and Terry, who are about to leave for South America. Sally must face her crowd and convince them she has not been jilted.

"We'll stop in Rio a week," said Terry. "It'll be the longest flight Tip's ever made."

"She'll love it," Sally said faintly.

"You bet. She's got nerve, that kid. She'll go anywhere I go, try anything I'll let her. But you don't need to be worried about her. I'll take care of her." But you don't need to be worried about her. I'll take care of her."

Sally suddenly caught a glimpse of herself as Terry saw her—a sort of nursemaid for Tip. The idea was more than she could bear. When the music stopped, she left Terry hurriedly, making an excuse.

She fairly ran. In the hallway she hesitated, longing to get out in the cool darkness. Joe hailed her from the supper room, but she hurried past. Outside, the long porch which ran around two-thirds of the house seemed deserted. The right wing of the big house was in partial darkness, with a single light burning in the library. Sally made her way toward the light. She would find a place to sit in the darkness near the library. Perhaps Philip Page would come out by and by and she could ask him to take her home.

In the darkness, Sally ran against a girl who was standing against the wall of the house, in the shadow of tall shrubbery.

"Sh-h! It's me," said Mary Morris, drawing Sally into the shadow with her. "I'm listening in on Dad and Philip Page. They're having a terrible row."

Sally could hear the voices upraised in the library, angry, loud voices, both of them. "Can we get closer and hear what they say?" she whispered. Mary answered by sliding along the wall until they were beside the lighted window and could see the two men inside.

"If you know what's good for you," said Mr. Morris, who was seated at his desk, "you'll get out of this town and stay out. You came here to make trouble. You'll get it."

"You know as well as I do," said Philip, "the Palace theater is unsafe. Horton condemned it. That's one of the reasons he lost his job."

"Horton lost his job because he doesn't know anything about building inspection. He condemned the town's demand that you clean up your slum districts!"

"The town's demand!" Mr. Morris snorted angrily. "You mean your demand. If you think a young pup like you, who never owned a stick of property and never will, can tell me what to do with my property, then you're barking up the wrong tree. Now get out."

"Certainly," Philip Page's voice was cool again. "You will remember that you asked me to come here in the first place."

"I did," said Mr. Morris. "I wanted to show you one of these threatening letters I've been getting. You say you don't know anything about them, but that makes you no less guilty. Your paper has stirred up the rift-raft of this town and got 'em so crazy they threaten to blow up a man's house." He waved a letter at Philip. "A letter—to me—threatening to dynamite this house."

"Turn it over to the police," said Philip. "If you feel the need of a guard around your house. Good-night."

Sally and Mary crept around the corner of the house and sauntered with Terry for Sally.

Public Health Service of State Helps Make Better Citizens, Women are Told

Menasha—Happier, healthier citizenship is the result of the public health service rendered by the state department of health was the contention of Mrs. Lester Wienbergen when she spoke at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Economics club of Menasha at the Hotel Menasha. Mrs. George Barnes was scheduled to speak on "Government Bodies" but she was unable to present. Miss Edna Robertson, also scheduled to speak on "Today's Problem in Social Service," is seriously ill at her home and could not be present either. Mrs. Norbert Verbrick, president of the club, presented her paper on "Solomon Juneau" which was to have been given at a previous meeting.

Mrs. Wienbergen told club members that it was 61 years ago that a Sauk county country doctor, appalled by the deaths due to communicable disease epidemics, approached an assemblyman from his district with the idea that legislation should be enacted to establish a state board of health to give public health service.

Make Few Changes
Wisconsin Board of Health came into being and since that time few changes have been made in the fundamental law although new additions have been made. In those days epidemics took 50 per cent of the grade school population and isolation and quarantine for communicable diseases did not exist. Through the years the state board of health has fostered and encouraged health education. It has helped in the development and program of the immunization and quarantine programs and its bookkeeping system of vital statistics has been a means of analyzing the health conditions in the state.

"The board has fostered activity toward the curtailment of the inroads made by tuberculosis which each year took so many lives. The board furnishes certain vaccines and silver nitrate for the treatment of venereal diseases and it holds clinics. It assists doctors with its laboratory service and it requires that all barbers, beauticians as well as the shops have licenses. Its bureau of child welfare imparts health education and its program of public health nursing has been especially commendable."

During the open-discussion which followed the talk, members commended with pride the public health program of the Twin Cities. Mrs. Verbrick, in her discussion on Solomon Juneau, pioneer settler and "father of Milwaukee," read excerpts from a biography of Juneau and his wife which was written by Isabella A. Fox, a great grand daughter.

Served As Clerk
Juneau, of French-Canadian origin, came to Green Bay as a young man and was a clerk for two years in Green Bay and Milwaukee trading posts. He later went into business with his employer who was later to become his father-in-law.

Juneau's business activity, his social life and his community life were discussed at length by Mrs. Verbrick. He was the first postmaster of Milwaukee, the first president when it was incorporated as a village and the first mayor when it became a city. To the Indians, he was a "tried friend" and they thought it fitting that he should come to them to die and they hoped to have him buried on the reservation for he died while on a visit to the Menominee Reservation, north of Shawano.

Interesting documents of early business transactions between F. T. Bonduel and Solomon Juneau were displayed and excerpts from them read by Mrs. Verbrick. A tract of land in Milwaukee, now worth thousands, was sold to Bonduel for $500 and in another document, Juneau sold three lots to friends for $100.

Mrs. Juneau, of French and Indian blood, was a fine woman said Mrs. Verbrick who told many interesting stories about her during her life as a pioneer woman.

Heavy Machine Is Best For Hauling House Trailer

BY CARL W. MASON
Biloxi, Miss.—A light automobile presents more danger in handling a house trailer than does a heavier machine. This fact should, perhaps, be considered axiomatic but should nevertheless be strongly impressed upon trailer operators or prospective purchasers. Increased watchfulness and added carefulness in driving at all times are necessary to offset the menace of the light-weight car. A Mississippi automobile dealer, recently returned from a 7,000-mile tour of the country, informs me he observed about 15 trailers in the ditch as the result of a variety of accidents and without exception they had been hitched to light cars. He added that he had been preparing to buy a trailer for himself but his observations had caused him to change his mind.

If the light car driver with a trailer will exercise reasonable care, however, I do not believe he need fear to operate his outfit anywhere.

Kaukauna Rally Falls Short and Menasha Wins, 30 to 27

Victors Take Big Edge in Opening Periods, Lead 19-7

Koehn and Bootz Feature Kaw Drive in the Second Half

MENASHA—Although grabbing a 12-point lead at half-time, the Menasha Bluejays were forced to the limit to defeat a scrappy Kaukauna High school basketball team by a 30 to 27 margin in a Northeastern Wisconsin conference game last night at Butte des Morts gymnasium.

Captain Eric Fahrenkrug, Menasha center, played an outstanding game getting six points and playing fine defensive ball. The Bluejays continually controlled the ball in the first half and drove in to shoot repeatedly from close in while taking plenty of long shots. Their zone defense worked perfectly and prevented the Kaws from breaking in for short shots.

Coming back strong in the second half, the Kaws made a change in their style of attack. The Kaws came to within two points of the Menashans due to the fine shooting of Koehn and Bootz, who collected eight and nine points respectively. With Bootz breaking to the center for many shots, the Littlemen kept the large crowd on the edge of its seat and for a time it looked as if the tide had turned. However, Wideman got hot in the final quarter to provide the Bluejays with their margin of victory.

Menasha Leads, 4-3

Scoring was at a minimum in the first quarter with both teams repeatedly missing shots. Menasha led at the end by 4 to 2 in goals on goals by Osiewalski and Heiss on follow ups. The lone Kaukauna basket was made by Bootz on a short dribble in attempt. Heiss, Fahrenkrug and Godhardt missed free throws for the Bluejays with Koehn missing one for the invaders.

Starting with a rush in the second period, the locals quickly added six points on two goals by Godhardt and one by Fahrenkrug before Koehn dropped a basket for Kaukauna to make the count 10-4. Fahrenkrug followed with a rebound after which Wideman dropped a free throw and a beautiful attempt from the corner. After Godhardt swished a speaker shot, Hatchell dropped a long attempt from the side. Osiewalski added two gift shots on Bootz's second personal to end Menasha's scoring for the half. Koehn made a free throw on Godhardt's foul to make the score 19-7 at the intermission.

Soon after the second half started, the visitors showed that they really could shoot by holding the locals to two points while making nine themselves during the third period. The Bluejays' points were on free throws by Godhardt. After Koehn dropped a gift shot to start activities, he followed with a shot to make the count 20-10. Bootz added another goal on a short attempt before the period ended with the count at 20-16.

Closing Minutes Wild

Bedlam really reigned during the last stanza, but after the visitors had threatened to take the lead at several points, Wideman always broke through with a basket to end the tension. Bootz dropped a gift shot to start the scoring but Wideman let go with a left-handed hook shot from the side and connected. Stanelle made a rebound shot and then Hatchell dropped a long attempt to get the score at 23-21. Heiss made a free throw and then Wideman lengthened the margin with another hook shot. Before Kaukauna could again, Osiewalski made a free throw. A gift shot by Wideman and a follow up shot by Fahrenkrug ended the locals' scoring while Parman made a basket and Bootz added a free throw and goal toward the end of the game.

SHIOCTON IN CLOSE WIN

Shiocton—Stemming a Hortonville rally after losing a regular guard in the last period of a Little Nine conference game here last night, Shiocton high cagers nosed out the Hortonville squad, 27 to 26. Hortonville outscored the Shiocton quint in the final period but was unable to shave the margin rolled up by the winners in the second and third periods.

Hortonville grabbed a 7 to 4 lead in the first period but Shiocton commanded play in the second and third periods as it rolled up a 13 to 9 count at halftime and increased its lead to 19 to 13 at the end of the third period. Losing Rohloff on fouls in the final period, the Shiocton squad fought gamely as Hortonville scored 13 points to 8 for Shiocton.

INDIANA shaved Wisconsin's lead to one game as it copped two victories in the Elks Big Ten league games on the Elks alleys Friday evening. Greaser tipped a 215 game and 558 series to lead the Hoosiers to the 2-game win over the league leaders. O. Kunitz was high in Wisconsin series scoring with a 542 count and F. Fries shot high individual game of 201 pins for the Badgers.

Michigan clipped Northwestern in two games as Senfhorst cracked a 284 game and 627 series to lead the Wolverines' scoring. Jacobson's 601 series and Balliet's 224 game were high for the Wildcats.

Sinner compiled a 247 game and compiled a 629 series to lead Iowa to two wins over Ohio. The Buckeye scoring was led by Holt's 571 series and Smith's 218 game.

Minnesota swept a 2-game victory from the Illinois bowlers, with W. Turton leading the Gophers' scoring with a 233 game and 573 series. The Illinois scoring was topped by Mignon's 217 game and Froom's 578 total.

G. Ward went to town putting together counts of 162, 234 and 228 pins for a 622 total and E. Voigt split a 251 game for Chicago in two wins over Purdue. The Badger makers top scorers were E. Hifert with a 225 game and E. Davis with a 576 series.

Witte Reports at Football Meeting

Says Grid Injuries in High Schools Show Decrease

Chicago—(P)—W. A. Witte, Appleton, Wis. reported last night that injuries among high school football players during the 1936 season occurred at the rate of 35 per cent per thousand, a slight decrease for 1935 figures.

Witte spoke at the National Interscholastic Federation's football rules committee meeting. He said investigation disclosed that most prep injuries occurred soon after the start of the second half, probably because players were too highly keyed up or had not warmed up properly.

The committee voted yesterday abolishment of the old "sleeper" play and ordered that football shoe cleats be not longer than one and one eighth inches. In the past there has been no restriction.

Marquette U. Battles St. Louis "5" Tonight

Milwaukee—(P)—The Marquette University basketball team will make its last home appearance in six weeks tonight when it battles the St. Louis University five.

After tonight's game the Hilltop quintet will play five games on the road. The next home game will be Feb. 20 with Michigan State.

St. Louis' squad includes three grid players who opposed the Golden Avalanche at Soldier field last fall. They are Marty Rosini, tackle, Len Gorman, center, and Woody Hermyman, fullback.

Coach Bill Chandler of Marquette said he probably would start Adams and Sokody as forwards with Hosik at center and Graf and Quebuis as guards.

Hawks Will Try To Stop Wildcats In Big Ten Play

Wolverine-Purdue Game Also a Feature of Tonight's Schedule

CHICAGO—(P)—Iowa's Hawk eyes will attempt to slip a half-point lead to the Northwestern "Darkhorse" tonight as the Big Ten basketball title race resumes with eight teams in action.

Northwestern, victor over Illinois, was favored to defeat Iowa, but the Hawks gave Indiana a great battle before bowing 28 to 24 and were rated a good chance to upset the Wildcats.

Both clubs are similarly constructed. Each has four veterans working with a sophomore. The first year man on Northwestern's lineup is Bob Voigts, shifty guard. Ben Stephens, a keen shot and good passer, is a sophomore forward for the Hawkeyes.

The Michigan-Purdue battle at LaFayette, Ind., may provide fireworks, with the Wolverines endeavoring to stop Purdue's drive for another share of the title. In the final game last season, Michigan held a 15 point lead over the Boilermakers with 12 minutes to play. Then Bob Kessler led the Purdue drive to nose out the Wolverines by one point.

Jewell Young, Purdue's left-handed forward, will try to add to his total of 27 points scored against Wisconsin last Monday.

Both teams shared the title with Purdue last winter, was expected to take the erratic Chicago Maroons in stride. The Hoosiers averaged 45.1 points in seven starts this season. Ken Gunning paced the attack with a 65 point total.

Illinois, defeated by Northwestern 47-38, goes against Wisconsin at Madison slightly favored over the Badgers.

Ohio State will oppose New York University at New York. Both the Gophers and Buckeyes will swing into championship action Monday, Minnesota against Chicago and Ohio State against Wisconsin. Other games Monday night are Northwestern at Michigan; Purdue at Iowa, and Indiana at Illinois.

ILLINOI AT WISCONSIN

Madison—(P)—University of Wisconsin and Illinois basketball teams will meet tonight in the Badgers' first home engagement of the season against a Western conference quintet.

Both teams rely heavily on a fast breaking offense. Wisconsin scouts who saw Illinois lose to Northwestern, 47 to 38, last Saturday reported the Illini are good ball-handlers and accurate shots.

The Badgers lost their Big Ten opener to Purdue, 43 to 30.

The probable starters for Wisconsin will be Howard Powell and George Booney, forwards, Byron Bell, center, and Lee Mitchell and Manny Frey, guards. The Illini probably will use Louis Boudreau and Tom Nisbet, forwards, Bob Riegl, center, and Wilbur Henry and James Vopica, guards.

Coach Harold (Bud) Foster, breaking down on the guards in working this week, has expected the Illini to be "every bit as tough as the Boilermakers." Wisconsin's guards failed to score a point against Purdue.

No. 4. Resolution from the Waushara County Board read. (Reference to a 2 year term for town and village supervisors).
RESOLUTION
Whereas, the Wisconsin Statutes of 1933 provide that the Supervisors in Villages and the Town Chairmen in the Townships in the various Counties in the State of Wisconsin hold office for only one year; and Whereas, the said Supervisors and Town Chairmen together with the Supervisors in the cities in the County constitute the County Board of a great majority of the counties in this State; and Whereas, it appears to the County Board of Supervisors of Waushara County that the interests of this county as well as the other counties in the State would be best served if all members of the County Board of Supervisors could act on said body continuously for two years without re-election; and Whereas, it is the desire of this Board to recommend to the Governor of the State of Wisconsin that the State Legislature change this law made now, therefore,
Be It Resolved by the County Board of Supervisors of Waushara County that a communication be sent to the Governor of the State of Wisconsin, to the State Senator and the State Representative from Waushara County requesting that they cause the law in the County to have Section 10.52 of the Wisconsin Statutes amended so "Town Chairmen will be elected for a term of two years" and further that Section 61.19 of the Wisconsin Statutes be amended so that "Any Village Supervisor will be elected for a term of two years"; and
Be It Further Resolved that the County Clerk of Waushara County be, and the same is authorized to send a copy of this resolution to the County Clerk of each county

No. 5. Resolution from the Ashland and Barron County Boards read. (T-B test of cattle every three years).
RESOLUTION
Whereas, the test for bovine tuberculosis as prescribed by law every three years has been one of the controlling factors for National and Foreign marketing of dairy products and dairy animals in the State of Wisconsin and has brought the greatest prosperity to the State from any one source.
Whereas, the principal income for the farmers of the State of Wisconsin is the sale of dairy products and dairy animals.
Whereas, some of the markets for dairy products require that all animals be tested at least once each three years.
Whereas, the legislature in 1933 voted to change this law from a three year test to a six year test for economy.
Whereas, a test each six years has become detrimental in the marketing of dairy products and dairy animals to other states.
Therefore, be it resolved that this County Board in session August 11, 1936 be recommended that this law be changed to a test every three years instead of six years and that a copy of its adoption be sent to the Clerks of every county in the State of Wisconsin for action of the county board at its next session, and that a copy be sent to the Governor of the State and the State Senator in the district and to its Member of Assembly.

No. 6. Resolution from the Douglas County Board read.
(Social security program).
RESOLUTION BY FINANCE COMMITTEE
Whereas, the 1935 Legislature failed to provide an adequate appropriation to defray the financial burden of the state's share of the Social Security Program, and Whereas, this failure has thrust upon the respective counties in this state, the responsibility of providing for the payment of a goodly portion of the state's share of this program as well as to shoulder the burden of their own shares, and
Whereas, the failure of the state to meet its obligations in this respect has thrust a tremendous burden upon the general property taxpayers in each county in this state, and
Whereas, it was never contemplated that the Social Security program would add any additional burden to general property taxes, but that the funds to finance this program would be obtained through the levying of income and inheritance taxes, and
Whereas, it is entirely within the province of the 1937 Legislature to meet this burden by imposing a tax on the state to adequately appropriate for its Social Security Program:
Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, that this County Board, in regular meeting assembled, do hereby record itself as unalterably and militantly opposed to the placing of the financial burden of the Social Security program upon the already bowed backs of the general property taxpayers; and

Be It Further Resolved; that the Finance Committee of this County Board is hereby delegated to ascertain the attitudes of all candidates for legislative offices in this County on this question and that the committee be hereby authorized to take such steps as it deems appropriate to procure an expression of opinion from such legislative candidates, and that such expressions be presented to this Board at its next regular meeting; and That it be further resolved that a copy of this Resolution be sent to the Board of Supervisors of each County in this State with the request that the same, or similar resolution be adopted by said Boards and that all of said Boards ascertain, prior to election, the attitude of their respective candidates upon this question.
Dated this 17th day of September, 1936.

No. 7. Communication from the Board of Pensions at Madison read. (Pension administration in Outa-gamie County).
November 5, 1936.
Mr. Mike Mack, County Board Chairman
Dear Mr. Mack: In view of the approaching county board meetings we should like to call to your attention certain phases of the social security program which has been in operation in Wisconsin for the past thirteen months.
The splendid cooperation and confidence of the county agencies has made it possible that at the end of September, 1936, 23,589 old people could receive old age assistance, 19,141 children benefit from payments of aid to dependent children, and 2,995 persons receive blind pensions. The local aspects of the program are in reality more important than the state and national ones. Not only are counties or other local units called upon to share the cost, but the local administrative agency stands on the firing line where the plan and the people meet.
In order to do this, a great deal of money is necessary for the state and counties alike to meet certain minimum requirements. The State Pension Department is not interested in arbitrarily inflicting elaborate policies and procedures upon the counties, but we are desirous of giving the counties sufficient service and supervision so that their standard of administration will be at a level high level to be acceptable for federal participation in sharing the cost.
The determination as to whether the federal reimbursement is granted or disallowed counties is made on the basis of the type and nature of the records of the local administrative agencies. It is essential that the individual records contain adequate proof of the beneficiary's eligibility for and need of public assistance.
Therefore, we strongly urge all county boards in planning for the next year's administrative personnel and policies to make adequate provision for proper facilities to have all records and proofs of eligibility in such condition as not to jeopardize the county's receiving federal reimbursement. Recurring contacts with the beneficiaries are essential in order that grants of aid can be adjusted to changing circumstances and in order that the local agencies can be of the greatest service to the recipients.
The State Pension Department, through its field representatives and other staff members, is desirous of giving you service and advice in assuring the standards of all county administrations in this state are at a level that will make federal and state reimbursement as nearly certain as possible.
Thanking you for your cooperation, we are Very truly yours,
George M. Keith, Supervisor of Pensions,
Same was referred to Pension Committee and District Attorney.
No. 8. Communication and opinion from the Attorney General read. (Administration of county owned forest lands).
Subject: Attorney General opinion October 30, 1936
To Chairman of County Boards, County Clerks:
The attached opinion just received from the Attorney General is self-explanatory and constitutes a guide for the county boards and county officials in the administration of county-owned forest lands, in view of the law in connection with the administration of county-owned forest lands, either within or without the boundaries of county forests.
H. W. MacKenzie, Conservation Director.
Enc. 1 Wisconsin Conservation Department
Madison, Wisconsin
(COPY)
THE STATE OF WISCONSIN
Office of Attorney General
Madison
October 29, 1936
Conservation Department, Capitol
Madison, Wisconsin.
Gentlemen: You inquire whether power given to county boards to prohibit hunting and fishing on county forest lands is unconstitutional. Subsec. (2), par. (c), Stats., extends to county-owned forest lands, in view of the provisions of Sec. 77.03, whereby the owners of such lands consent that the public may hunt and fish thereon, subject to such regulations as the conservation commission may prescribe.
Section 59.09, a general statute relating to county forests, provides that as to forest crop lands entered as such under the provisions of ch. 77, sec. 77.03 is controlling on the question of regulation of hunting and fishing irrespective of whether such lands are county-owned or privately owned.
Sec. 59.09, a general statute relating to county forests, provides that as to forest crop lands entered as such under the provisions of ch. 77, sec. 77.03 is controlling on the question of regulation of hunting and fishing irrespective of whether such lands are county-
owned or privately owned.
Also it should be pointed out that Sec. 59.09, subsec. (3), provides that the county board of any county establishing and maintaining a county forest reserve shall cooperate with the state conservation commission in all ways possible. It would hardly be considered that the provisions of this section for county board to make different regulations concerning hunting and fishing other than those promulgated by the conservation commission.
Furthermore, as pointed out in your letter, under ch.
77, sec. 77.03, the State of Wisconsin is authorized to grant forest crop lands situated within the boundaries of the county to the state, and the state may, in turn, be in lieu of the taxes that would otherwise be assessed against these lands by the towns, and under Sec. 59.09, subsec. (5), the state pays an additional ten cents per acre to the counties for forest crop lands in a county forest reserve, which must be used for forest purposes.
The state receives nothing in return except the right of the public to hunt and fish on such lands, and this right is in the nature of a contract right under sec.
77.03, in which it is provided in part that:
"The State of Wisconsin, by and through the owner, the making and recording of the order hereinbefore mentioned shall constitute a contract between the state and the owner, running with said lands. The owners, excepting the owners of farm wood lots, by such contracts, subject to such regulations as the conservation commission may from time to time prescribe."
No exception to such contract is set up in ch. 77 in favor of counties as contrasted with individuals except in the matter of tax liability, from which counties are specifically exempted. The tax liability, however, particularly where acquired by tax deeds, the county is not pretly much the same footing as a private individual.
For instance, see XXIV Ops. Atty. Gen. 398, as to the giving of notice by a county on application for a tax deed, and see XXIV Ops. Atty. Gen. 394 holding that the provisions of sec. 90.03, Stats., requiring partition fences to be built between adjoining land owners in certain instances, applies to counties.
We are therefore constrained to rule that a county by virtue of having entered into a contract with the state under sec. 77.03, is bound by the provisions thereof, including the one providing that consent is given to the public to hunt and fish, subject to conservation commission regulations.
Yours very truly,
J. E. Finnegan, Attorney General.

Outagamie County Mediation Board from November 1, 1935 to November 1, 1936 inclusive:
Thirty-one meetings have been held with travel of 1180 miles for inspections. The Board has acted on 98 been dropped on a single mortgage.

No. 16. Report of the Executive Committee and resolution of various supervisors in regard to $1200.00 appropriation for boilers in courthouse read.

The members of the Outagamie County Board:
Gentlemen: The undersigned members of the Executive Committee, inform you that an emergency has arisen in connection with the heating of the courthouse.
This emergency is the result of a break-down of the boiling plant, more particularly, the boilers of the heating plant. Be it understood that the boiler is in fair condition but if a heavier load is placed on this one, even this one boiler may be put out of condition.
We, the Executive Committee, under the laws of Wisconsin and the resolution passed by the County Board can approve the purchase of two new boilers for $500.00 Hundred ($500.00) Dollars without the action of the County Board.
The cost of installation of the boiler will exceed Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars.
A careful investigation as to the probable cost gives us the figure of approximately Twelve Hundred ($1200.00) Dollars. This is to request you as a member of the County Board to approve the proposed resolution attached herewith, which will be presented at the November session of the County Board.
The reason for this action is that we may get a head start on the installation of these boilers since it is very essential to provide the building with the necessary heat.
Purchase of this will be done in the regular course, through bids and the boiler to be installed immediately.
Geo. R. Schaefer, Fred Konrad, John Grafmeier, Fred
H. Frank, M. Mack, Executive Committee.
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County:
Gentlemen: Whereas an emergency has arisen through the break-down of one of the boilers at the courthouse
and
Whereas the remaining boiler, which is still in operation, is in need of minor repairs,
Therefore Be It Resolved that the Outagamie County Board of supervisors hereby appropriate Twelve Hundred ($1200.00) Dollars for the purpose of installation of one new boiler and repairing the other boiler, same to be appropriated from the general fund of Outagamie County.
Dated at Appleton, Wisconsin this 16th day of October, 1936.

No. 17. Communication from the Salvation Army of Milwaukee read. (Appropriation to the Martha Washington Home for the erring unfortunate girls).
September 9, 1936
Mr. John E. Hantschel, County Clerk,
Appleton, Wisconsin
Dear Mr. Hantschel: Re: Martha Washington Home and Hospital, 6304 Cedar St., Milwaukee.
I am writing you regarding the proposed institution—the Martha Washington Home and Hospital for erring and unfortunate girls. It is unquestionably the finest institution of its kind in the State.
Each and every year a large number of unmarried girl mothers (some of them in their teens) find shelter here. Certain counties in Wisconsin make yearly appropriations to us for this institution ranging from $100.00 to $300.00.
The Martha Washington Home and Hospital does not serve Milwaukee County alone. Applications come to us from counties all over the State.
Last year 119 unmarried mothers were given care.
Here is a question which anyone could ask—"Where would a girl in your township or county needing such service go?" Certainly not to your local or nearby hospital. Relatives and friends desire to protect, shield and help such a one. The answer is "The Martha Washington Home and Hospital at Milwaukee."
For the month ending August 31st, the Martha Washington Home carried a deficit of approximately $4000.00.
I am wondering would you be kind enough to read this matter over and would you make every effort to hope that your County Board will give "sympathetic consideration" to this work which must "carry on," and needs their support.
If you desire to write me a personal line regarding this matter I would greatly appreciate it.
Thanking you in anticipation,
Yours to help humanity,
(Brigadier W. H. Fox) Divisional Commander.

No. 39. Resolution of the Executive Committee read. ($75,000 bond issue for the construction of a first unit to the asylum.)

Whereas the E.W.A. has failed to act upon the request of Outagamie County for a grant towards the building of a first unit to the Outagamie County Asylum, and

Whereas W.P.A. has consented to granting Forty-six Thousand ($46,000.00) Dollars but the same is conditioned upon there being sufficient relief labor in the county to use the entire grant,

Whereas the officials of W.P.A. in conference with our committee have stated that they cannot be sure of furnishing anything except the common labor and that not more than Twenty-six thousand ($26,000.00) Dollars will be used because of the shortage of relief labor and further stated that the Appleton High School building about to be constructed is to have preference for both skilled and common labor and

Whereas the County Board has for the past five thousand ($75,000.00) Dollars, the bonds to be retired serially over a period of fifteen (15) years and

Whereas the asylum is to pay all in excess of Seventy-five thousand ($75,000.00) Dollars that the building will be unable to pay the principal and interest on the bonds due serially, unless the State of Wisconsin changes the present maintenance rate below $4.50 a week per patient, so that the county will only have to pay the interest on said bonds if they become due.

Therefore, be it resolved, that the committee herewith recommends to the County Board that the W.P.A. grant be withdrawn and that the addition to the asylum, to cost not more than One Hundred Thousand ($100,000.00) Dollars be built and financed in the manner above stated.

Whereby submitted on the 10th day of November, 1936, at Appleton, Wisconsin.

No. 98. Annual report of the Park Board and trustees of the detention camp.

Kimberly, Wis., November 13, 1936

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, Outagamie County, Wisconsin:

Gentlemen: Your Park Board and Trustees of the Detention Camp, during the following report of activities since November, 1935:

The November 12, 1935 report contained statistics from the beginning to that date, therefore, these, with one or two exceptions, will not be repeated.

The total number of prisoners sentenced to the camp from November 1, 1935 to November 1, 1936 was 108. The maximum number of prisoners at one time at the camp during the past year was 27, the minimum was 2. The total number of prisoners sentenced to the camp since its establishment March 13, 1934 is 267.

The minimum sentence was one year, the minimum was five days.

Since September, 1935, persons sentenced to the camp for 30 days or less do not receive any time off for good behavior. Those receiving a longer sentence receive up to 25% time off on halves, the other half one-half, and approved by the trustees at their regular monthly meeting. Time off has been and will be refused if camp rules are violated.

The physical condition of the camp buildings is good. Repairs were made where necessary. A hard wood floor was placed in the west dormitory. The grounds surrounding the building have been improved. The roof of the main building was given a coat of tar dressing.

No fuel will be purchased this year. There is sufficient wood for fuel on hand for approximately two years. This wood is cut on halves, the other half one-half, and approved by the trustees at their regular monthly meeting. Time off has been and will be refused if camp rules are violated.

The produce from the garden was a satisfactory quantity. There were raised 150 bushels of potatoes, 20 bushels of carrots, 20 bushels of rutabagas, 15 bushels of onions, besides smaller quantities of other vegetables consumed during the summer. There is also a large quantity of canned goods put up.

The annual report stated that a total of 1800 acres had been taken over by the county, the time off is checked other means. This year approximately 1200 more acres were acquired, making a total of about 3025 acres. The plantings of three years ago suffered last winter due to destruction by field mice. Pith was applied where the ground was bare. The ground was saved, but about two thousand were destroyed. This spring 16,000 transplants were set out. Due to the extreme drought and hot weather only about 60 to 65% survived. Five thousand were given away, leaving about 18,000 on hand.

The seedling beds are in healthy condition, having been watered continuously during the dry season.

We have asked the State Department for 200,000 seedlings for delivery next spring.

Early this year the board appointed committees made up of its members, designating activities and responsibilities.

These are: Budget and Purchasing, Camp Affairs and Superintendent, Tree planting, conservation and park affairs, County Board Contacts.

Mr. Roland Landau was appointed to fill the vacancy when Mr. Chas. Staid resigned recently and an appointment is to be made.

Mr. Lloyd Schuette resigned recently and an appointment is to be made.

The Park Board wishes to commend Mr. Schuette on the able and efficient way he accomplished taking over the duties of the camp.

It is the intention of the Park Board to compile a list of all tax delinquent lands in the County and adopt a complete program. This will take time. In the meantime we will continue to carry on this work.

We believe such a complete program should be proposed so that the County Board and the Park Board know what it is and what work and expense is involved. We believe the entire program should be carried out in the shortest time possible.

For the year 1937 we recommend, after thorough consideration, the following budget:

Detention Camp

Groceries and meat $1,200.00

Tools and equipment 35.00

Seeds and fertilizers 35.00

Incidentals 300.00

Truck supplies and repairs 25.00

Printing, salary and relief 1,200.00

Dishes and clothing 220.00

$3,635.00

Park Board and Camp Trustee administration $ 750.00

Tree foreclosing 350.00

Tree planting and conservation 300.00

$1,400.00

We recommend the purchase of a fireproof safe for the camp for a cost of $50. and $100 for electric wiring and fixtures, providing the power line is brought to the camp 150.00

$5,315.00

Jos. Doerflinger, Clyde J. Burdick, County Board Contacts Committee.

Supervisor Frank moved to adopt. Motion prevailed.

No. 97. Inventory of the County Detention Camp read. (Original on file in the County Clerk's office.) Supervisor Frank moved to adopt. Motion prevailed.

No. 98. Report of the Sheriff's accounts committee read. (Unpaid claims.) Supervisor Bottensek moved to lay over until 9:30 tomorrow morning for the first order of business. Motion prevailed.

No. 94. Report of the Committee on General Accounts. (Paid claims.)

Supervisor Bottensek moved that this report be referred back to the general accounts committee and the district attorney. Motion prevailed.

No. 103. Clerk of the County Board, J. B. McLaren which was omitted from the Insane accounts report (unpaid claims). Supervisor Bonini moved that the claims of $50.00 of Dr. J. B. McLaren be allowed and to be included in the report of the committee on Insane accounts. (Paid claims.) Supervisor Esler, 40 members voting aye, 1 absent. Motion adopted.

Information to be Given to Your County Board During This Fall Session on Matters of Relief, Pensions, and All Forms of Public Welfare

Dear Sir: While your County Board is in session this month unquestionably one of the big problems confronting you will be that of the public welfare. We recently made a check-up of the activities of the Citizens' Committee on Public Welfare appointed a year ago by Governor LaFollette to study the methods in different fields and to develop a workable plan for the future. This is the subject of the Public Welfare Bill of the utmost importance at the present time, we believe that you will be interested in learning of the progress made by the committee.

The Citizens' Committee on Public Welfare is made up of thirty-three representative men and women from all sections of the State. It has been making studies of state and county institutions and general welfare problems throughout the state for the past year, and it is anticipated that it will make specific recommendations to the Governor in time for some kind of action during the next session of the legislature. Attached hereto is a complete list of the members of the Citizens' Committee on Public Welfare and also a list of the sub-committee organization so that if you wish to contact one of the members who lives in your section it will enable you to easily do so.

Two basic principles have motivated the Committee's actions thus far. First it has considered Public Welfare in all its aspects, only one part of which is direct relief. Second, it is studying the problem from the standpoint of possible future trends rather than merely viewing it from the basis of existing conditions. The Committee has cooperated with our sub-committee on Public Welfare and has held hearings in state institutions.

Dated this 14th day of November A. D. 1936.

No. 101. Resolution adopted by the city council of Kaukauna, Wis., for the purpose of $50,000 for the City of Appleton for improving county trunk line in the City of Appleton and disallowing $2,000 appropriation for Library service to the rural districts.

RESOLUTION NO. 1174

Resolution Objecting to Outagamie County Making Grants of Funds to Municipalities for Highway and Library Purposes.

Whereas, it has come to the attention of the Common Council for the City of Kaukauna that the City of Appleton has made and filed an application with the County Board for Outagamie County requesting the said county to make a grant in the amount of Fifty Thousand ($50,000.00) Dollars to the City of Appleton, which sum is to be used for street and highway purposes in said City of Appleton, and that a request has been filed for two thousand ($2,000.00) Dollars to be used for library purposes in said City of Appleton;

Whereas, in the opinion of this Council, the making of such grants would be unjust, unauthorized, inconsistent with good business practices, and an unjust hardship on all of the taxpayers of Outagamie County;

Whereas, the City of Kaukauna, Wisconsin, the Common Council for the City of Kaukauna, Wisconsin;

Section 1. That the Common Council for said city does hereby and hereby go on record as strenuously objecting to the making of the grants herein referred to.

Section 2. That this city council verily believes that if Outagamie County is to make any such grants, such should be made to all of the cities and villages in Outagamie County, and should be made in proportion to the amount of taxes paid by each of the respective communities.

Section 3. However, it is the measured judgment of this council that no grants of this kind or nature should be made to any of the cities and villages in Outagamie County, and for the reason that if such funds are needed by any particular community, such can be raised by that community and expended by it.

Section 4. That a copy of this Resolution be filed with the County Clerk for Outagamie County and that one of the supervisors representing the City of Kaukauna on the County Board be directed to read this resolution and present the same in an open meeting of the said county board.

Introduced and adopted this 13th day of November, 1936.

Attest: Lester J. Brenzel, Clerk.

No. 102. Resolution of the Winnebago County Board read. (Control of Pension department)

Whereas, there has been some agitation by certain organizations within the State of Wisconsin, to transfer the administration of the State Pension Department from the control of the State Department of Social Welfare to the control of said pension departments would be exclusively in the hands of the State Welfare Department, and

Whereas, it has come to the attention of the Pension Department of Winnebago County, that there is a movement on foot, by certain organizations within the State of Wisconsin, to take over the administration and supervision of County Pension Departments, including the hiring of all employees and the operation of the entire department, and the extent of the county board would have absolutely no control over the employees or the operation of said pension department, now therefore,

Be It Resolved by the County Board of Supervisors of Winnebago County, Wisconsin that it is the opinion and desire of the County Board of Supervisors of Winnebago County, Wisconsin, that the administration of the Pension Departments of the various counties of the State of Wisconsin, be operated by the local County Boards, and that said local County Boards have control and supervision of the hiring and discharging of employees, working in said pension departments.

Be It Further Resolved that it is the opinion of the members of the County Board of Supervisors of Winnebago County, Wisconsin, that the present method of administration, with the local County Boards having charge of the local situations, under the direct supervision of the State Pension Department, be maintained in the future, as provided in the State Statutes, Section Two (2) of Section 49.51 of the Wisconsin Statutes.

Be It Further Resolved that the County Clerk of Winnebago County, Wisconsin, send a copy of this resolution to the Chairmen of all the county Boards in the State of Wisconsin, and to the Industrial Commission and senator, from this district, for action on their part.

Information to be Given to Your County Board During This Fall Session on Matters of Relief, Pensions, and All Forms of Public Welfare

Dear Sir: While your County Board is in session this month unquestionably one of the big problems confronting you will be that of the public welfare. We recently made a check-up of the activities of the Citizens' Committee on Public Welfare appointed a year ago by Governor LaFollette to study the methods in different fields and to develop a workable plan for the future. This is the subject of the Public Welfare Bill of the utmost importance at the present time, we believe that you will be interested in learning of the progress made by the committee.

The Citizens' Committee on Public Welfare is made up of thirty-three representative men and women from all sections of the State. It has been making studies of state and county institutions and general welfare problems throughout the state for the past year, and it is anticipated that it will make specific recommendations to the Governor in time for some kind of action during the next session of the legislature. Attached hereto is a complete list of the members of the Citizens' Committee on Public Welfare and also a list of the sub-committee organization so that if you wish to contact one of the members who lives in your section it will enable you to easily do so.

Two basic principles have motivated the Committee's actions thus far. First it has considered Public Welfare in all its aspects, only one part of which is direct relief. Second, it is studying the problem from the standpoint of possible future trends rather than merely viewing it from the basis of existing conditions. The Committee has cooperated with our sub-committee on Public Welfare and has held hearings in state institutions.

In various counties in Wisconsin. Enclosed, herewith, is a report dated September 22nd of a meeting with the Citizens' Committee on Public Welfare and a Committee on the County Board of Supervisors, in which various suggestions that were made to the Committee from the County angle.

In order that it might function more efficiently, the Committee, at its first meeting, divided itself into four sub-committees who have devoted their time to the collection of data relative to the problem in which various phases of Public Welfare are now being conducted. These four committees have also obtained from five widely scattered counties in Wisconsin, each of which is representative of the area in which it is located, suggestions as to how public welfare administration can be improved in the counties and State of Wisconsin.

The four committees referred to above are:

1. Sub-committee on Child Welfare
2. Sub-committee on Health and Disability
3. Sub-committee on Public Assistance and Public Employment
4. Sub-committee on Delinquency

The general committee also appointed three interlocking committees whose responsibility it will be to analyze the amount of information secured by the four committees and to make suggestions as to the method of handling practically all problems relating to Public Welfare. The studies made and the information collected have pointed to the need of relating various Public Welfare activities to each other.

We cannot begin to enumerate all of the problems that have been discussed with your sub-committee but we believe it would be well to suggest a number of questions that have come up as a result of the findings of the Committee in order that you, as individuals and as a body, may give them consideration and present any suggestion that you have to the Citizens' Committee on Public Welfare.

Some of the questions follow:

1. Of the various aids given, such as pensions, direct relief, and other welfare activities, what share shall be borne by the county and what share by the State? Shall all be on the same basis?
2. In order that a workable and unified system may result what should be the nature of the administration of public welfare in the county and what should be its relationship to the state administration?
3. To what extent should the merit system or civil service be employed in the selection of public welfare personnel?
4. Would it be less expensive to the county and better for the child if more delinquents were now sent to institutions could be boarded in their communities or aided in their own homes?
5. Would a county plan for early recognition and treatment of disease reduce the expense and number of patients sent by the county to state institutions such as Wisconsin General Hospital and Tubercular Sanatoria?
6. How can the taking of liens in connection with the granting of old age assistance be simplified? Should a similar provision be made for other forms of public assistance?

Other problems which are being considered are work programs, managing and financing county institutions, prevention of delinquency, ways of helping the mentally deficient, functions of the court in connection with public welfare and many other detailed problems too numerous to mention.

We are informed that during the next two months, conferences will be held in various sections of the State, at which detailed information and tentative proposals for solution will be brought to your attention and requests for action will be made. We believe that the method of handling and we urge you to take up the problems referred to in this letter during the session of the County Board and transmit the thoughts of your County Board to our Association and also so that the County Board Chairmen can be supplied with the necessary data to present at the meetings that will be held throughout the State, one of which undoubtedly will be in your section of the State.

Very truly yours,

Wisconsin County Boards Association

A. J. T. M. C.

P. M. On the questions asked and on any other ideas coming from the discussion of these problems in your meetings, will you have the County Clerk send the results to us as soon as possible after your adjournment.

No. 105. Communication from the Wisconsin County Boards' Association read. (Governmental receipts and Governmental expenditures from towns, cities and villages)

September 22, 1936

To All County Board Chairmen:

Dear Sir: On September 18th in the Assembly Parlors in the Capitol Building, a meeting was held by the two sub-committees of the Governor's Survey Committee of the Wisconsin County Boards Association, namely the Resistance and Employment and the Committee on Finance, with Committees of the League of Municipalities and Wisconsin County Boards Association. Present for the Wisconsin County Boards Association were the following chairmen: L. E. Ness, Marinette County, R. W. Davis, Cross County, J. P. Fitzgerald, Lincoln County, Lawrence J. Timmerman, Milwaukee County, and Hugh A. Harper, Grant County.

The following recommendations were made by the Wisconsin County Board Association as a group:

First: That a study of the governmental receipts and Governmental Expenditures of all towns, cities, and villages, as well as the county, in the State be made over a ten year period from 1925 to date in order to have a more scientific and authentic basis of "Ability of Local Units to Carry Public Welfare." At the present time, the basis for some of local governmental expenditures is contributed towards relief and public welfare, in general, is based on what is commonly known as the Harris Report, which gives weight to certain items such as estimated farm income, motor vehicle registrations, per capita, net tax and other items, etc. in as much as local units of government depend solely on Real Estate Taxes for their income, giving weight to these other factors is not a sound basis for determining the ability of county or local unit of government to pay. We believe a complete analysis of Governmental Receipts and Governmental Costs, as well as the amount of work and maintenance, determining what percentage of funds are able to be raised locally in the different forms of Public Welfare.

Second: The second suggestion we made was that Real Estate Levies for Public Welfare, such as relief pensions for aged persons, and other matters, be given priority over real estate collections of other matters similar to the matter of Public Welfare. Taxes are now handled. This is especially important in certain counties who are asked to administer relief and pay a portion of the pensions, but are given nothing but Delinquent Tax Receipts with which to carry out these functions.

Third: The third suggestion was that some definite basis of allocating additional income tax collections to counties be considered. Our suggestion was that all income taxes up to $8,000,000.00 be divided as they now are, and the excess of $8,000,000.00 be divided as follows: 30% to the County, 40% to the State, and 30% to the State. Our suggestion was that the change the basis of allocations to towns, cities or villages but on the excess collections over $8,000,000.00 to apportion 40% to the County and 10% to the State instead of 10% to the County and 40% to the League Leaders Meet Tailenders In Games Sunday

Kavanaugh Barbers Conceded Chance to Upset Goldin Metals

GAMES SUNDAY.
2:15 Pantry Lunch versus Catholic Knights.
3:30 Goldin Metals versus Kavanaugh Barbers.

LEAGUE STANDINGS

Goldin Metals	3	1	750
Catholic Knights	3	1	657
Young Men's Club	2	1	680
Gustman Chevrolet	2	1	667
Pantry Lunch	2	2	333
Greenwood Chapel	1	3	250
Kavanaugh Barbers	0	3	200

Kaukauna—Standings in the Industrial basketball league are not expected to change materially as a result of tomorrow afternoon's tilts in the high school gymnasium, as two first place teams tangle with quintets far down the ladder.

Conceded the greatest chance for an upset victory, however, is the Kavanaugh Barber battalion, which is expected to throw all caution to the winds in an effort to snare its first conquest of the season from the veteran Goldin Metal five.

The strong Catholic Knight squad is rated a topheavy favorite to put the Pantry Lunch team nearer the cellar position.

Emmett Kavanaugh, coach and sponsor of the tail-end Barber aggregation, is still confident his team packs a winning punch. While this organization has failed to "click" in performances to date, Kavanaugh has some of the city's better players on his team roster.

With McFadden, Main, Walters and Noje functioning as expected, a surprise win over the scrappy Goldin Metals might be accomplished.

Need Forwards.
The haircutters' principal difficulty has been in having an oversupply of defensive men and a dearth of capable forwards. The Goldin team, with Eiting, Rohan and the Berg brothers playing great ball at present, are determined to maintain their top ranking position.

The Catholic Knights should, on the basis of past performances, pile up a sizeable score against the fifth place Pantry Lunch athletes. N. Berg Tadych and Hovde have been sharpening for the Redmen in recent games, and "Demon" Verbeten is again hitting the hoop with consistency.

Richard Otis, Pantry Lunch coach, may shift his lineup for tomorrow afternoon's clash, in an effort to improve his defense and provide a power in the front line. Bronstad, center, and Heinz, guard, may be absent from the starting lineup, according to Otis. Bronstad, who outjumps taller pivots men, burned three fingers last week.

CHOIR REHEARSAL.
Kaukauna—The Junior choir of Emmanuel Evangelical and Reformed church will rehearse at 6:15 Saturday. Senior choir members will practice at 7 o'clock in the church.

Kaus Not Only Lose Games, But Arrive Late Also

Kaukauna—Although it wasn't Friday the 13th, Dame Fortune refused to favor Kaukauna High basketballers with a smile last evening. Not only did both varsity and reserve squads lose close battles to Menasha Bluejays at Butte de Morts gymnasium, but members of both local teams were late in arriving for the contests because of bus trouble.

With athletes, coaches and sports writers comfortably seated and headed for the contests shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, the bus stopped for an arterial one block from the high school gymnasium and refused to start, despite frantic efforts of the driver to determine the trouble.

Finally, after five B squad men and their coach had departed for the Bluejay gym in another car, remaining squad members and Coach Paul Little boarded an Appleton bus, which was met halfway between Kaukauna and Appleton by a special bus sent out for the emergency. The major portion of the two squads arrived just as the B game began fifteen minutes late.

While the late arrival may have had some or no effect on the final results last night, Coach Little feels that he was somewhat "laxed" because yesterday was his wife's birthday and he has never yet been able to present her with a basketball victory gift.

French Students to Gather Monday Night

Kaukauna—Persons interested in studying the French language will meet at the vocational school at 6:45 Monday evening for the purpose of reorganizing, according to an announcement made yesterday by William T. Sullivan, school director.

If a sufficient number of students attend the meeting and signify intention of studying French, a beginning French class may be formed. Richard Belle, circuit instructor who visits the school three nights weekly, will teach the class if organized.

No Relief Aid for Those Who Drive Cars, Is Edict

Kaukauna—Persons receiving direct relief will be denied further aid if they operate an automobile, according to an order issued by the city poor commissioners and sanctioned by Mayor John H. Nielsen.

This order has been necessitated because of difficulties caused when relief recipients, whose car licenses had been confiscated by the relief department, were seen driving cars. When questioned, the relief clients state that the machines are the property of relatives and parties not receiving aid, but the relief department assumes that persons driving cars are also contributing toward the purchase of gasoline and oil, it was pointed out.

Bank Stockholders To Meet Next Week

Kaukauna—Stockholders of both local banks will meet next week for election of directors and transaction of annual business.

Bank of Kaukauna officials will meet at 7:30 Monday evening, and stockholders of Farmers and Merchants Bank will assemble at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. Directors chosen during these meetings will meet at a later date for an election of officers.

Chilton Council Cancels Request For WPA Project

Decides to Remodel Old School Building Without Federal Aid

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—At the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, a motion was adopted cancelling the application for a WPA project to remodel the old school building into a city hall. The reason for the action was that no assurance could be obtained for getting the work under way for some months, if at all. No funds are at present available, and will not be until such time as congress makes a new appropriation, if at all. The council therefore decided to undertake the work without WPA aid.

The firm of Auler, Jensen and Brown of Oshkosh presented complete plans for remodeling the building and for an addition to house the fire department, with the recommendation that bids be taken at once for the heating, plumbing and wiring contracts. The recommendation was approved by the council, which fixed Feb. 2 as the date for receiving bids. If the bids are found acceptable, the work will be started at once.

Homes Can Attain Comfort All Year With 'Eagle Wool'

Rock Wool Insulation Offered by Sprinkman at Economical Cost

You will readily agree that comfort is the most valuable single asset any home can have. A home that is cool in summer and warm in the winter would make possible every pleasure—refreshing sleep on the hottest nights and constant daytime enjoyment regardless of the temperature. There would be no drafts in winter, no cold spots, and every room would heat up uniformly which would assure a delightful place to live and entertain.

In the past it was almost impossible to build this feature into the home or the expense was so high, making it prohibitive. Science, however, has solved the problem with insulation—modern insulation—that can be installed quickly and easily without altering the lines of the house or creating any muss or fuss. Eagle Rock wool insulation, sold locally by the Sprinkman Sons Corporation, 421 W. College avenue, answers the need for a low cost, modern, efficient insulation for bringing about complete comfort at all temperatures in homes and in business establishments.

Eagle Rock Wool insulation is a fluffy, wool substance, spun from mineral rock, and is full of tiny completely enclosed dead air cells, this material forming a positive barrier to the passage of heat. Blown into walls and roofs, it keeps buildings cool in summer, warm in winter, and materially reduces fuel bills. With this insulation, packed securely, between side walls and in the attic, heating plants have more opportunity to fill rooms with desired warmth and the interior is, therefore, never seriously affected by outside temperatures.

For homes under construction Eagle home insulation comes in "bat" of "roll" form which is just the right size to fit snugly between studs and joists. A recent local application of this material in a store building was made at the Geenen Department Store by Sprinkman Sons, Corporation. The entire job was handled without inconvenience or remodeling. Sprinkman's urge your further investigation of the merits of this product. A phone call to 130-W, Mr. E. D. Ingbreton, salesman, will bring complete information.

As soon as ice attains a greater thickness, the annual ice harvest will commence. It is planned to have a crew of about 15 men and cut, float, elevate and pack 600 tons of ice in about 3,000 400-pound cakes. There was a bayou ice depth of 14 inches, prior to the abnormal holiday season weather, which decreased it to about 10 inches, Herrick said.
